TRY TO PLACE FINANCES ON STABLE BASIS

Propose to Put Federal Official in Charge of Saskatchewan's Grants

MORE MONEY ONLY FOR ACTUAL WANT

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP).—In addition to the financial assistance to Saskatchewan, advanced by the Dominion Government today, with more likely to follow shortly, it is understood a proposal has been forwarded to Premier J. G. Gardiner that an official of the Finance Department be placed in charge of administration of Federal moneys that may be expended in that province in the future.

No details of the plan have been made public, but it is known that, following the announcement last night that an emergency grant would be forwarded at once and a formal plan submitted later, Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes worked out a plan, which was submitted to the council today.

A DETERMINED EFFORT

The intention, it is understood, was to assist the province to meet immediate requirements and co-operate in a determined effort to put Saskatchewan's finances on a more stable basis without further recourse to direct gifts of money from the Federal Treasury.

It is considered very unlikely that any further Federal moneys will go for purposes other than relief of actual want and distress. So far as the difficulties there can be assumed to be a national calamity, the Government will take the responsibility, it was stated.

JOINT SUPERVISION

Beyond that, it is understood, financial assistance will be granted only if the economic life of the province is placed under Dominion control. As an intermediate measure it is expected that attempts will be made to have the province agree to a joint supervision, with Federal Government officials working closely with the provincial in administering the financial affairs of the province.

REVISION PLAN WINS APPROVAL

French Premier Weathers Storm in Cabinet Meeting—Herriot Assists

PARIS, Nov. 2 (AP).—"Papa" Doumergue piloted his truce cabinet through another heavy storm today.

The aged Premier won the unanimous consent of his ministers to his plan to revise France's fifty-nine-year-old constitution.

He had to strike his colors somewhat, however, on the point of his programme most bitterly fought—the power he wanted vested in the Premier and the President, under the revised constitution, to dissolve the Chamber of Deputies without the Senate's consent.

MODIFIES STAND

Even though the veteran leader had told the voters he was prepared to stake everything on his programme, designed to end the too frequent turnover of French Governments and concentrate more authority in one man, powerful opposition forced him to abandon his heretofore adamant stand, it was understood.

Spearhead of the attack was Edouard Herriot, former Premier, and his five fellow Radical Socialists in the Cabinet, who stood pledged to the party's recent convention at Nantes to fight Doumergue's aim of stripping the Senate of its right to veto dissolution of the Chamber.

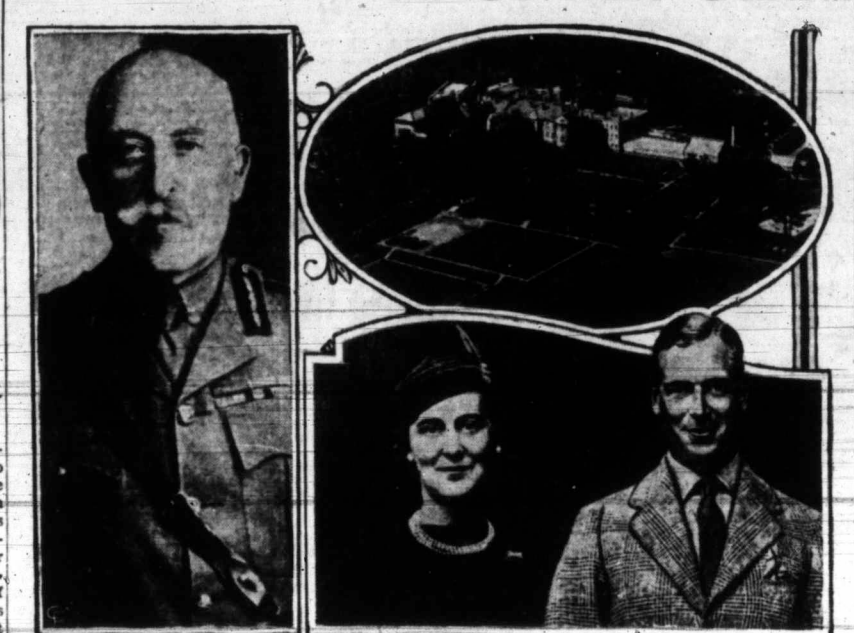

A definite formula was accepted by Herriot, it was learned. He told Doumergue he would consult party leaders tonight and give him the final answer at tomorrow's Cabinet session.

Sedition Bill Goes Through Lower House

LONDON, Nov. 2 (CP).—After bitter attacks from the Opposition, the House of Commons tonight gave third reading, by a vote of 241 to 85, to the Government's Sedition Bill, sending it to the House of Lords, where it is assured passage.

The Opposition strongly contested the Government claim that opponents of the bill were not supporting freedom of opinion, but merely encouraging criminal activities. The bill is mainly aimed at suppressing incitement to disaffection among the armed forces.

Mentioned as Next Governor-General

Rumors are current in London that the Duke of Kent, Prince George, and his bride-to-be, Princess Marina of Greece, are to become the next tenants of Rideau Hall, Ottawa, as representatives of the King in Canada. Last member of the royal family to hold the post of Governor-General of Canada, was the Duke of Connaught, great-uncle of Prince George. Layout shows Duke of Connaught (from photo taken when he was Governor-General), Rideau Hall, Princess Marina and Prince George.

Far-Reaching Political Change Appears Likely For Spain in Few Days

German Press Demands Resignation of Saar Commission Head

BERLIN, Nov. 2 (CP-Havas).—The co-ordinated press of Germany, today, called for the resignation of Geoffrey Knox, president of the Saar Governing Commission, and accused France of troubling the peace of Europe by placing her troops at the disposal of the Saar authorities with a view to maintaining order during the forthcoming plebiscite.

The Berliner Boersen Zeitung accused Colonel Knox, an Australian, of being "an instrument of a policy of intervention" and asked for the appointment of a Saarlander to replace him. The paper referred to the "invasion of the Saar" and the "erroneous Imperialistic conceptions of France," adding that the French stand "could not have been expressed more clearly nor more cynically."

Regular Market Said to Be Upset by Chain Store Methods of Selling on Consignment—Quality and Origin Misrepresented

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP).—Chain stores re-entered the picture in the mass buying probe, today, as Toronto and Montreal wholesale and retail fish merchants let loose a lashing attack on shipments of fish on consignment—depressing prices; hake, pollock and cod fillets being sold to consumers who thought they were getting the superior haddock fillets; and alleged misrepresentation of Newfoundland salmon for the Gaspé product.

VICTORY'S TIDE STILL FLOODING

Count of Votes in Elections Continue to Show Progress of Labor

LONDON, Nov. 2 (CP).—The surging tide of Labor victories continued to flow, tonight, through the London boroughs and the country at large, as the count progressed of votes cast in more than 300 municipal elections.

Labor does not take outright control of all the city, town and borough councils that were elected, but the party has already captured a considerable number, retained control of many won in former years, and added to its representation in others that remain Conservative.

BIG TOTAL GAIN

With returns from the Metropolitan London area and from 100 of the largest provincial towns complete, in all England and Wales, Labor gained 632 council seats, most of these being at the expense of the Conservatives.

Jubilant over the result, the London Labor Party executive, tonight, adopted a resolution congratulating the local Labor parties on their "dramatic victories," and thanking the people of London "for this further manifestation of their confidence and support."

President Niceto Zamora Is Expected to Resign With Little Delay

DEATH SENTENCES CAUSE DISSENSION

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press) GIBRALTAR, Nov. 3.—It was learned on the highest and most reliable authority today that President Niceto Alcala Zamora may undergo a far-reaching political change within a few days.

The President was said to be depressed by a bitter division in the Cabinet of Premier Alejandro Lerroux. It was also stated that the President was deeply concerned by the difficulties of his son, Luis, who is to be tried by a court-martial.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

The Cabinet was divided by a difference of opinion as to whether death sentences should be inflicted on numerous leaders of the recent revolt in Catalonia.

From ministerial sources it was learned that President Zamora had pardoned numerous revolt leaders, including Major Enrica Perez Farbas. The pardons were authorized only over the strenuous objection of ministers of the Ceda party, the popular authoritarian group.

POSITION PRECARIOUS

The division in the Cabinet threatened to make the President's position precarious when Congress reopens and Rightist Deputies who are in overwhelming majority, demand an account on responsibilities for the revolt.

Premier Lerroux, veteran radical leader, was regarded as a likely candidate for the Presidency should Zamora resign. Lerroux was a candidate in the first Presidential election.

The nation was in a state of tense expectancy as Moderate Centrists and Rightists were insisting that those responsible for the rebellion should be punished.

FLYERS READY TO LEAVE HONOLULU

Kingsford-Smith and Taylor Expected to Hop Off for Oakland This Afternoon

HONOLULU, Nov. 2 (AP).—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian aviator, announced tonight he would take off in his plane Lady Southern Cross at 2 p.m. tomorrow for Oakland, Calif., on the last leg of his trans-Pacific flight from Australia to California.

With his companion, Captain P. G. Taylor, he watched completion of repairs to the oil tanks of their plane, a leak which caused postponement of their flight to the Pacific Coast yesterday.

The flyers are expected to be speeded by strong winds from the west at high altitudes, which are predicted tomorrow from near Hawaii to their destination.

SEATTLE, Nov. 2 (AP).—A forty-eight-mile-an-hour breeze struck Seattle suddenly tonight, wrecked many communication lines and endangered small craft. A downpour of rain accompanied the storm.

GOLD FLOWS TO NEW YORK

Export to United States Resumed as European Currencies Decline

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP).—With several million dollars of gold already engaged for shipment to New York, foreign exchange circles here look for a sizeable movement of metal to America from European capitals in coming weeks.

Monetary gold stocks of the United States have shown no tendency to improve in the face of delicate political situations in Paris and Brussels.

French francs, Belgian belgas and Dutch guilders have declined substantially below the levels at which it is cheaper to purchase gold and ship it to America than to pay the extra premium on dollar exchange. Almost $1,000,000,000 of gold has been added to American stocks since January 31, the bulk of it through imports from other countries.

CAPITAL RETURNS HOME

When the dollar was revalued nine months ago, a flood of gold from England and Europe moved to New York, as American capital held abroad returned home and foreign exchanges sought to adjust themselves to the new level of the American monetary unit.

When the United States nationalized silver, the rise in gold stocks was checked for a brief period. Some $20,000,000 was exported from New York. Finally, the dollar recovered its full strength last month, and the tide of gold again appears to be rising.

AVIATORS END GREAT FLIGHT

Jones and Waller Complete Remarkable Journey Setting Many Records

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP).—Cathart Jones and Ken Waller celebrated today the completion of one of the most remarkable flights in aviation history—a race across three continents and back, during which many new records were established.

The flyers, who finished fourth in the Melbourne race, made the 24,000-mile round-trip flight in 13 days 6 hours and 42½ minutes. The only stops outside the British Empire were in Greece and Persia. There was no previous round-trip record.

GIVEN ROUSING WELCOME

After a rousing welcome at Lympne Airfield, where they had their first real meal of the day, having gone without breakfast at Athens, the pilots flew to Hatfield Airfield, in the London area.

Jones, the thirty-four-year-old former holder of the London-to-Cape town record, was greeted at the field by his wife.

Bernard Rubin, the plane's owner, who was prevented by illness from acting as chief pilot with Waller, was the proudest in the throng at Lympne.

The longest stops during the journey were forty hours in Melbourne, nearly forty hours in Athens, and twenty-one hours at Allahabad.

MANY RECORDS BROKEN

In the return flight, a record of 5 days 15 hours and 54 minutes was set from Port Darwin, Australia, to England. The previous record was 8 days 9 hours, made in September by C. J. Melrose.

They also bettered previous times between Melbourne and Charleville, Charleville and Port Darwin, Melbourne and Darwin, and Melbourne and Singapore.

HUNDREDS DEAD AFTER TYPHOON

Storm Causes Extensive Damage Along Coast of French Indo-China

SAIGON, French Indo-China, Nov. 2 (AP).—A destructive typhoon which swept the coast of Annam, October 25, left between 250 and 400 persons dead, reports reaching here today said.

Sweeping out of the South China Sea, the storm devastated the 180 miles of coast line from Vinh to Bonga, striking hardest at the Province of Donghuc.

Reports said 5,000 houses were wrecked, and all the crops, as well as thousands of head of cattle, destroyed.

A rainfall of eight inches—the greatest in the region for thirty-one years—accompanied the storm and added to its destruction.

French Indo-China, the eastern part of the Indo-Chinese Peninsula, includes the protectorate of Annam, Tongking and Cambodia, the colony of Cochinchina and part of the Laos country.

The population of more than 19,000,000 is four-fifths Annamese.

Nearly Ready for Big Shot Expected To Move Mountain

Hundred Tons of Dynamite to Be Exploded in Old Workings of Mine at Anyox—Largest Blast Ever Attempted

ANYOX, B.C., Nov. 2 (CP).—In preparation for one of the largest mining blasts in the world's history, the 1,000 inhabitants of the village at Hidden Creek Mine, two miles from here, will evacuate their homes towards the end of November, when the big shot that will move mountains will be fired from Anyox.

One hundred tons of dynamite will be exploded in one tremendous blast designed to clean up old workings of the mine from which much ore has already been taken. Experts here contend the blast will be the mightiest ever attempted.

TUNNELED AND WIRED

Work in preparation for the big explosion has been carried on for more than a year. Tunnels have been driven and wiring is being carried out, miles of it, all connected with the one main cable. The dynamite has been set at an average depth of about 400 feet, with some of it as much as 800 feet below the surface.

In order that other parts of the mine may not be closed by the blast, a new entrance tunnel has been driven, far enough away from the big blast to insure that it will not be damaged.

Officials believe some of the buildings in the mine village will be wrecked, but, as none are of a permanent character, the loss will be slight. No living creature will be allowed within the radius of the blast when it is set off.

Fire Breaks Out in Diesel Section and Is Only Prevented From Spreading by Use of Dynamite

—Still Burning at Last Word From Scene to Reach Stewart—May Compel Shut-Down

Damage May Reach $200,000 Is Early Estimate of Loss

STEWART, Nov. 2.—Fire, which was still raging at a late hour tonight, destroyed the big Diesel power plant at Premier Mines, eleven miles from here. Desperate efforts on the part of the entire crew at the mine were directed towards saving other valuable portions of the plant, and particularly to prevent the spread of the flames to the hydro-electric plant.

In the brief messages that reached here from the mine, the origin of the outbreak was not given. The fire started about 6 o'clock, and spread with alarming rapidity, despite the efforts to hold it to a section of the Diesel plant building.

The general alarm was sounded, and men streamed from the mine levels to join with those off shift, who had hurried to fight the flames as soon as the whistles gave warning of fire.

DYNAMITE IS USED

In addition to chemical extinguishers and all available hose lines, dynamite was resorted to to prevent the spreading of the fire area and the destruction of the major part of the mining camp.

After several hours of battling, the message was relayed to Stewart that the fire was under control, but that the town was in complete darkness.

Before 10 o'clock, was the effect, that while the fire was still burning, and that the loss might approximate $200,000, there was no further danger of it spreading.

MAY HALT OPERATIONS

It was felt here that the destruction of the Diesel power plant might necessitate a shutting-down of operations, due to the approaching freeze-up and the difficulty of reconstruction under winter conditions. This would affect 250 men.

The Premier Mine is the senior gold producer of British Columbia, having produced in the past fifteen years 1,200,000 ounces of gold and $2,000,000 of silver.

AGREE ON FORM OF CEREMONIES

Ex-Service Men Delete Religious References When Dispute Arises

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP).—Ex-servicemen's organizations in Vancouver today took control of plans for celebrating Remembrance Day at the Cenotaph, and decided to delete all religious references from the programme, in the face of strong opposition from Most Rev. A. U. de Pencier, Anglican archbishop of New Westminster.

Delegates to a specially-called meeting voted solidly to confine the ceremonies to those of a patriotic nature, following the model used in Ottawa. Archbishop de Pencier and Rev. Dr. Bruce Hunter, of Canadian Memorial Church, had previously been requested to participate in the religious service.

COULD TAKE NO PART

Veterans were motivated today by an announcement from Martin J. Griffin, representing Archbishop William Duke, of the Roman Catholic archdiocese at Vancouver, that Roman Catholics could take no part in the ceremonies unless the committee rescinded all religious arrangements.

He regretted that the situation had given rise to controversy, but declared that "we Catholics are not permitted in conscience to attend any unreligious services."

Archbishop de Pencier made a plea for the inclusion of the Lord's Prayer and Biblical services, contending that elimination of religion from last year's ceremony had given a great deal of offence to a great many people.

May Default On Payments Of Interest

CALGARY, Nov. 3 (CP).—The bank has refused to extend further credit, and, in consequence, the city will default its interest payments due in December, unless money can be raised to carry on to the end of the year, it was announced today at the close of a lengthy council meeting.

The city's interest obligations for December total $141,000, comprising $121,000 in debenture interest and $20,000 in bank interest.

The council instructed the city solicitor to make a report on procedure in placing the affairs of the city before the Alberta Board of Public Utilities for its advice.

Britain Succeeding With Her Campaign For Child Welfare

Dame Janet Campbell, D.B.E., Tells Public Meeting About Progress of Health Movement in Old Land—Praises Work Here

ATTACKING the problem first through the already-organized channels of the public elementary schools, Britain has gradually succeeded in reaching the child in infancy, and the pre-natal stage in its nation-wide child welfare campaign, greatly reducing infant mortality and the incidence of diseases which leave their aftermath of permanent physical defects, Dame Janet Campbell, D.B.E., informed her audience in the very fine address she gave last evening at the Shrine Auditorium.

Visiting Victoria in the course of her Dominion-wide tour in the interests of maternal and child welfare, Dame Janet Campbell confined her talk last night to the discussion of these two matters. On the same platform was Dr. Riddell, Canada's representative at the League of Nations, Geneva, who also spoke for a short time about what the League has achieved in suppression of the opium traffic, in settlement of international disputes which might have led to war, and in evolving a plan for disarmament.
Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, presided; Hon. Dr. G.
M. Weir, Minister of Education; Dr.
H. E. Young, Provincial health officer; Dr. D. M. Baillie and Mrs. H.
McGregor, vice-president of the Federated Women's Institutes, were other speakers.

SIMILAR TO B.C.

Speaking of what is being done in England along the lines of maternal and child welfare, Dame Janet said that the methods, in a general way, were similar to those in use here. She congratulated the women's institutes on the support they were giving to the work in this country. England had the same fundamental ideas and problems as Canada, although the problem of population was reversed, in that Canada had to deal more with the problem of the big sparsely-populated areas, whereas Britain's big problem in connection with population was due to overcrowding and slum areas in the big cities.
Both countries were striving to solve the problem of caring for the mothers and little children, in connection with the latter aiming at prevention of the diseases and ailments that would leave them with physical defects that would hamper them in later life and make them less valuable citizens than if they had had healthy childhood and well-developed physiques.

EARLY BEGINNINGS

Britain's health campaign began with improvement of the water supply, drainage, and control of infectious diseases. These problems settled, she got to work on the health of the school children, easily approached, thanks to the system of compulsory education. Medical inspection work began in 1907.
Helped forward with the support of the school authorities, this guaranteed that each child should be examined three times during school life, a condition that still persists, although it was hoped that eventually more frequent examinations could be given. This discovered special defects, and resulted in the grouping of "school diseases" such as eyesight, hearing defects, tonsils and adenoids. School clinics became part of the school medical service. Besides the ordinary school inspection and such treatment as could be given through school service, the education department was made responsible for specially defective children such as cripples, who were educated in special separate schools.

In speaking of these, Dame Janet warmly praised the work of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, which seemed to be doing a most commendable thing in providing education in association with treatment of crippled children. This was now widely recognized as the right principle, as it meant that though physically retarded the children were not denied the privileges of education and would not suffer the double handicap of retarded minds.

RECOVERY SCHOOLS

The open-air "recovery" schools were described. She suggested that these might be combined with the Solarium, for delicate children, on hygiene and food, drink, and the abuses of food and drink. The older girls were taught something of mothercraft and the care of infants.
The war, with its disastrous loss of life, had indicated a more far-reaching scheme of health work, and to this end pre-school age and infant welfare work were instituted, the latter through baby clinics and health centres. In referring to this, Dame Janet acknowledged the fine work done by volunteer helpers and doctors who had realized the great unnecessary infant mortality, and had struck at the root of the problem by forwarding the teaching of mothercraft to the mothers. This was done through baby clinics, where nurses gave information on the care of the baby.

PRE-NATAL CARE

The next step was the teaching of pre-natal care. The mothers had responded to this fairly well. More difficult was the effort to institute a movement for maternal welfare, the mothers being more keenly interested in the well-being of their babies than in their own health. Owing to lack of effort and perhaps lack of intelligence, this last phase had not been very successful to date.

"We ought to be saving at least one-half of the lives that are lost, and preventing most of the sickness," said the speaker when she touched on the question of maternal mortality.

Dr. Weir thought Dame Janet's message was particularly appropriate to bring to British Columbia at the present time, when the Government was sometimes accused of mollycoddling the people. Was it not better to spend the public moneys in prevention rather than to expend at the rate of $3,500,000 annually for health institutions, more than half of which could be saved if Dr.
Young's plan for a regulated programme for health, beginning at the birth of the child, could be carried out.

PROVINCES AND DOMINION ARGUE

Dispute Concerning Peace River Timber Dues Carried to Privy Council

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP).—Arising out of the return of the natural resources to the Western Provinces and the sale of lands in the Peace River block in British Columbia, a dispute between the Dominion Government and Western provincial governments has been carried to the privy council.

Deputy Minister of Justice W.
Stuart Edwards will leave for London soon to assist Sir William Jowitt, counsel for the Dominion, in the case. Wilfrid Greene, of the British bar, will appear for the Western Provinces.

The case concerns responsibility for the repayment of timber dues.
The amount is substantial, but not definitely known. The case, however, is being fought on principle.

FLEET ATTACKING CHANNEL BASES

Portsmouth and Portland Against Heavy Attack

LONDON, Nov. 2 (CP-Havas).—
Joint manoeuvres by the Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force were launched today as the defence forces tested their means to repulse an invasion.

Steaming in from the North Sea was a large fleet comprising three battleships, five cruisers, sixteen destroyers, six submarines and an aircraft carrier with six flying squadrons aboard.

The warships will attempt to pass through the English Channel and destroy the naval bases at Portsmouth and Portland.

Defence of the homeland against the "enemy" has been entrusted entirely to thirty aviation units—seaplanes and land planes—of the Royal Air Force's interior and coastal divisions.

it was a woman who was injured and in practically every case the fall was due to the woman's ankle turning on high-heeled shoes.

COMMISSION TOLD OF FISH MARKETING

quality and identity and so marked the fish. The commission, both agreed that the present system of fish-on-consignment should be abandoned, and the fish should be sold to the commission, which would then be responsible for marketing the fish. These steps, they considered, would bring better returns to the fishermen and enable wholesalers and retailers to sell more fish. Mr. Marshall wanted one marketing board for the Mar-time Provinces, with one of the chief functions of this board to be insistence on the proper identification of boxed fish. He recommended also the appointment of a Dominion fish inspector in the Montreal district.

TOO MANY HOLIDAYS

The merchants were of the opinion that much of the fishermen's troubles in Grand Manan and other districts was due to the fishermen themselves, as they did not want to pack or clean the fish themselves, the witnesses said, but merely wanted to sell the catch as it was thrown in the boat, and took holidays sometimes early in the week when they should be fishing.

In fishing for pollock, the fishermen went out to get the roe for which they were paid five or six cents per pound, stated Mr. Marshall.
"What is done with the roe?"
asked the committee counsel, Norman Sommerville.

"It is shipped to the United States and processed into caviar," answered the Montreal merchant.

"Into Russian caviar?" he was asked.

"Yes," answered Mr. Marshall,
"and that sells at $15 to $16 a pound."
The fishermen would never be able to get one cent more per pound for their product, the Montreal merchant prophesied, if shipment of fish on consignment continued.

URGES PROSECUTION

Those stores which misrepresented Newfoundland salmon for the Gaspe commodity "should be prosecuted,"
Mr. Marshall told the commission.

Four practical fishermen related to the inquiry earlier in the day the improvised conditions of their fellow fishermen.

The commission will meet again on Monday morning.

Mrs. Colin Hallam Passes in England

Word has been received here of the death in England of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hallam, wife of Colin Hallam, of the Victoria and Albert Museum, London. Mrs. Hallam was a native daughter of Victoria and was thirty-nine years old.

She is survived by her husband,
her mother, one son, Frederick Wale, of England; two brothers, W.
J. and C. E. Dixon; three sisters,
Mrs. E. W. Watts, Colwood; Mrs. J.
Shaw, Cowichan, and Mrs. R. B.
Young, Cowichan Lake.

PASSED AWAY IN PARIS

Miss Isabel Charlotte Mackenzie-Grieve, aged twenty-seven years, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.
W. Mackenzie-Grieve, of 958 St.
Patrick Street, Victoria, and granddaughter of the late Captain Mackenzie-Grieve, R.N., England, passed away in Paris, France, after a short illness, advised received here yesterday stated.

GIVEN THREE-YEAR TERM

BEAINE LAKE, Sask., Nov. 2 (AP).—Admitting a charge of attempted arson when he appeared before Police Magistrate J. E. Luster here today, Bill Torken, prominent member of the Sons of Freedom sect, was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in Prince Albert penitentiary.

Mrs. I. Gill Called by Death Here

Mrs. Isabella Gill, widow of William Gill, aged eighty-seven years, a well-known resident of Victoria, died yesterday at the family residence, 1617 Jubilee Avenue, after a short illness.

Some thirty-five years ago, Mrs.
Gill came to Victoria from the East, where she was born. She was an active member of First United Church and identified with the Ladies' Aid Society of the church.
For many years she was associated with the old Friendly Help Association, which has since been merged into other groups.

Mrs. Gill is survived by three daughters, Misses Isabel and Elizabeth, at home, and Mrs. Jane Morrow, of New Westminster, and five sons, William, of Kingston; Leonard and Clark, of Vancouver; James, of Hamilton, and John, of Spokane.
Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

TWO UNIONS IN OPEN WARFARE

Thousand Miners Battle With Sticks, Stones and Clubs in Pennsylvania

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 2
(AP).—Rivalry between two hard-coal unions broke into open warfare today with a battle between 1,000 miners at a Nanticoke colliery.

Sticks, stones and clubs were hurled during the melee, between members of the United Mine Workers of America and the younger United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania. Scores of husky workers were cut and bruised and investigators reported a dozen were knocked senseless, but no one was seriously injured.

TWO-HOUR BATTLE

The battle raged for more than two hours over an area of several city blocks, with the entrance to the
No. 7 colliery of the Susquehanna Collieries Company as its centre.
Struggling miners grappled on the sides of fifty-foot high banks and rolled in the streets, while police were unable to stop the fighting.

The United Anthracite Miners voted last night to "close the Susquehanna colliery tonight," because, they said, some of their members were "fired" by the colliery company. Word of the action spread to headquarters of the older union and the men came to work prepared for an emergency.

dent that the Labor representatives in the town halls, conscious of the great responsibilities which have fallen to them, will rise to the occasion and give to their boroughs a beneficial administration which will reflect credit on the Labor movement.

IMPRESSIVE EXTENT

In London, indeed, the extent of the Labor victory was impressive.
The last London elections came on the heels of the general elections three years ago.

Labor then suffered heavy losses in London and in the country as well. In London they dropped 203 seats and control of five boroughs.
Now they are back in greater force than ever.

The turnover in London boroughs was especially heartening to Labor leaders, inasmuch as it followed sweeping victories last March which gave them control of the London County Council.

Heartened by the results, the executive of the London Labor Party announced it was immediately reviving and expanding the activities of its so-called municipal reform consultative committee, which will assist in pushing public welfare projects on the Labor programme.

GIVE TRAVELOGUE AT LOCAL CHURCH

Illustrated Address on Three United States Canyons Presented in Natural Colorings

The beauty of the three major canyons of the United States, Zion, Bryce and Grand Canyons, in all their natural coloring, was brought before the eyes of a large number of Victorians, last night, at First United Church, when Miss L. S.
Lobdell gave an illustrated address,
under the auspices of the Eagles'
Young Men's Club.

Miss Lobdell, who is on the public relations staff of the Union Pacific Railway, held her audience enthralled for more than an hour, presented the majestic scenes on specially treated slides.

She was assisted by her cousin,
Miss Lea Moulton, mezzo-soprano, and former singer with the DeWolf Hopper Opera Company. Miss Moulton illustrated various slides with songs and also contributed solos during the intermission.

The unusual formations found in the canyons, stated Miss Lobdell, gave scientists ample proof that at one time the sea completely covered the area. Sponges, bones of crabs and other phenomena were found in these canyons.

During the evening a short musical programme was enjoyed. The following contributed numbers: Mrs.
Marjorie Watson Goodwin, John
Pym and A. W. Trevel, William
O. Findlay acted as chairman.

WANT WARDEN FOR FISHERIES

Nanaimo Fish and Game Association Thinks Patrol Inadequate

NANAIMO, Nov. 2.—A fisheries warden for the Nanaimo River watershed and adjacent waters is advocated by the members of the Nanaimo Fish and Game Association, which, at its meeting on Thursday night, recommended the appointment by the Federal Department of Fisheries. The meeting was of the opinion that this large area is not at present adequately patrolled.

The association was opposed also to any increase in the daily bag limit of salmon allowed sporting fishermen, and favored the prohibition of salmon seining within three miles of Vancouver Island, with the exception of chum salmon after October 10.

A letter was received from Hon.
G. S. Pearson, stating that he would have the Government engineer look into the question of improving the road between the first and second Nanaimo Lakes.

In response to an inquiry received from the Provincial Fish and Game Association as to the number of cock and hen pheasants in this section of the island, the members of the local association were asked to keep a check as to the approximate number of cock and hen pheasants they may see flushed during the season, at the end of which they will report to the local secretary.

The liberating of pheasants just before the hunting season opens was taken exception to by the meeting. It was claimed that the birds thus liberated were too tame, and were easy victims for the first hunters. A recommendation to this effect will be forwarded to the Provincial Game Department.

J. F. Tait, inspector of fisheries here, gave a most interesting address to the meeting during the course of the evening.

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP).—Reeve
John Warren, of East York, member of the township hydro commission, announced today that John S.
McKenzie, secretary, and L. Tyler, assistant cashier, have been suspended pending an investigation into the books of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Dispute Over War Winners Is Fatal

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 2 (AP).— Dan Brick, forty-three, United States ex-serviceman, died today from a bullet wound suffered Tuesday night at the height of a quarrel over who won the Great War. Edward Blue, forty-one, described as a Canadian war veteran, was ordered held for grand jury action.

were erected, and a decision was reached to oppose terrorist organizations with a united front.

FUNERAL TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Jesse Dennis, of 2721 Quadra Street, who passed away suddenly Thursday morning, will be held at St. John's Church at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the funeral cortege leaving Sands Mortuary ten minutes earlier. Rev.
Canon F. A. P. Chadwick will officiate, and the remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

"Oh, Betty! — You're much too big to cry. Let's get Aunt Alice to tell us why a nice little girl feels so weepy and cross all of a sudden."

"This little girl says she doesn't want to play either. Mother, I'd give her Castoria tonight. Perhaps it's constipation that's making her so listless."

"Oh Aunt Alice! — I'm just fine today! — Yes, I had my Castoria last night — and Mother says to tell you that she thinks it's simply wonderful!"

"I'm so glad you're better, Betty dear! You tell your Mother that Castoria is made especially for children just like you. And it hasn't a thing in it that would hurt your little baby brother either. — He'll love the taste of it just as much as you do. — And don't forget that it's a splendid thing to take if you feel a little sniffling cold coming on."

DEATH REMOVES GEORGE O. RUDGE

Resident Here for Thirty-Nine Years Succumbs—Funeral Services on Monday

George Oscar Rudge, aged eighty years, passed away yesterday at the family residence, "1310 Woodward Road." He was born in New Brunswick and came to Victoria some thirty-nine years ago. Mr. Rudge was a stone mason for many years.
He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Miss Georgia L.
Rudge, at home, and several nieces and nephews.

The remains are resting at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlor, where services will be conducted on Monday at 2 o'clock. Rev. Canon F. A. P.
Chadwick officiating. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Annual Police Ball Attracts Hundreds To Empress Hotel

Crowd Estimated at 1,400 Attends Brilliant Affair
—Gay Decorations Lend Color to Ballroom
—Sit-Down Supper Served

THE annual police ball, which always marks the beginning of the social activities for the winter season, is invariably an outstanding success, but last night's affair at the Empress Hotel eclipsed all previous balls held by the police Mutual Benefit Association, and attracted nearly 1,400 guests.

It was a brilliant function from every point of view, and as the notes of the National Anthem were struck up by the orchestra at 8 a.m., there was no doubt in the minds of any of the guests that they regretted that the ball was over.

DISTINGUISHED PATRONAGE

The Crystal ballroom and foyer were thronged throughout the evening, and an excellent programme of dance music was played by the seven-piece orchestra. Old-time tunes and the most up-to-the-minute melodies were included in the dance numbers. The affair was under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. Fordham, Johnson, Premier and Mrs. T. D. Pattullo, and His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Leeming. Chief of Police Thomas Heatley and Mrs. Heatley, the Mayor and Mrs. Leeming, members of the board of police commissioners and their wives led the grand march at 9 p.m.

A sit-down supper was served between 11 p.m. and 1 o'clock, at attractively-arranged tables in the main dining-room and in the Spanish grill, ample accommodation being provided for the huge crowd.

GAY DECORATIONS

The ballroom was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flags, while the police colors, blue and white, hung from the crystal chandeliers. Behind the orchestra platform, which was banked with palms and ferns, a shield with the emblems of the police force lent a distinctive note to the decorations.

BALL COMMITTEE

The ball committee was as follows: Honorary chairman, Chief Thomas Heatley; chairman, Sergeant Benjamin Acreman; secretary, Detective Henry F. Jarvis; treasurer, Constable Donald Donaldson; convener of refreshments, Sergeant James Florence; master of ceremonies, Sergeant Thomas Hall; assistant master of ceremonies, Constable Roy Woolsey.

The decorations were arranged through the courtesy of the Royal Canadian Naval Barracks, Esquimalt.

OFFICIAL LIST

The specially-invited guests included: The Lieutenant-Governor and party, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Rev. Robert Council, Hon. Gordon McGowan, Hon. P. M. MacPherson, Hon. G. S. Pearson, Hon. K. C.

BURIED WITH HIGH HONORS

Impressive Scene When Archbishop Stringer Is Laid to His Rest

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2 (CP).—In the quiet of a cathedral cemetery, distant from the key Arctic wastes to which he had taken the word of God, the Most Rev. Isaac O. Stringer lay buried tonight.

An Autumn-chilled sun shafted through leaf-stripped trees upon a bowed assembly of the foremost in Church and State this afternoon as His Grace the Archbishop of Rupert's Land was committed to his grave by the Primate of the Church of England in Canada.

During the service, the churchyard was thronged with people who had been unable to gain entrance to the church. With about 100 visiting clergy and official representatives of Federal, Provincial and municipal bodies, the limited seating capacity was hopelessly inadequate to accommodate church-goers of the Diocese.

Leaders of the Church of England in Canada participated in the service. Archbishop S. P. Matheson, retired Primate and predecessor to Archbishop Stringer as head of the Rupert's Land Province, read the opening sentences. The Bishop of Calgary, Rt. Rev. L. R. Sherman, read the lesson, and the Rt. Rev. M. T. Harding, Bishop of Qu'Appelle, now acting Bishop of Rupert's Land, took the closing prayers.

At the graveside, the Primate was assisted in the prayers by Archbishop D. T. Parker, acting administrator of the Diocese of Rupert's Land.

MYSTERY STAINS BAFFLE POLICE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP).—Reports that bloodstains were found on verandas by residents in the Maple district, were being investigated by police tonight.

Several residents in the 1700 block, 57th West, and the 6900 block, Sperling Avenue, reported they were awakened early this morning by someone knocking on their doors and shouting that he was hurt. By the time they reached the scene, the person had disappeared.

Police at first believed that the people were awakened by C. P. Gower, a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who was on duty at the time. Gower was found in the 1200 block, West 64th, by police, who took him to hospital, where he was given first aid and then taken to his ship.

Representative Of Federated Board Speaks

"Is the Federated Board Worth While?" was the subject discussed by Mrs. H. McGregor, vice-president of the Federated Women's Institutes, and of the Provincial organization, in her address to the W.I. conference, yesterday morning.

Mrs. McGregor maintained that the organization had justified and continued to justify its existence, as evidence of this citing the remarkably diversified display of Women's Institute crafts shown at the Federated W.I. exhibition in Winnipeg. Two or three familiar articles, one illustrating the pine-needle craft, were shown at yesterday's meeting by Mrs. McGregor.

Very fine work was being done in all provinces of the Dominion in spinning, weaving, pottery, needlework, quilts, rag rugs, baskets, leather, and metals. British Columbia's exhibits had proved particularly attractive, and all exhibits from this province had been sold and orders received for more.

Touching on the work of the British Columbia Institutes, Mrs. McGregor referred to that is being done by Anthony Walsh in reviving the native Indian arts and crafts at an Indian reserve in the Okanagan. Many of their nature-drawings had won first prize at an exhibition held in England.

SAYS SHOOTING WAS ACCIDENTAL

Coroner's Jury Hears How F. I. Nichol Was Fatally Wounded by His Own Shotgun

Accidental death was the verdict of a coroner's jury which inquired, yesterday, into circumstances surrounding the fatal shooting of F. I. Nichol, aged thirty-seven years, Borden Avenue, at North Saanich on Thursday.

Mr. Nichol was shot Thursday morning at 11 o'clock by his own shotgun while hunting on the McLean farm, W. M. Carmichael, 1023 Fort Street, and J. R. McIlreath, 1562 Richardson Street, stated. They were hunting with the deceased at the time. The accidental shooting occurred shortly after Mr. Nichol had missed a shot at a partridge.

BILATERAL CONVERSATIONS

The deadlock, or impasse, or stalemate, as it is variously described in American dispatches relating to the naval talks in London among British, American and Japanese representatives, appears to continue. What are in progress are bilateral conversations as a preliminary to the Naval Conference due to be held next year. Of the three parties concerned Japan alone has a definite plan for naval armaments. It presupposes, however, that Japan be accorded the right of parity in naval armament with any other country. Her attitude is put in this way, that all countries engaged in framing a naval agreement should have equal rights so far as provision for national security is concerned. This would indicate a principle which could be defined as giving to every country the right of possessing the minimum of armaments necessary for defence. Japan's proposals are, moreover, based on the hypothesis that the minimum should in no case be so large as to constitute a menace to any other nation.

It is Japan's demand for parity in armaments, or for recognition of the principle of parity, that seems to be the stumbling block in the bilateral conversations. It means an abandonment of the 5-5-3 ratio and the substitution for it of an agreement on global tonnage. Possibly the dispatches dealing with the naval conversations, which are held in secret, may be premature in constantly announcing a deadlock in views. After all, if Japan's proposal for parity is not recognized by Great Britain and the United States it seems axiomatic that it is only a question of time before that right, as a theory at least, must be acknowledged. The difficulties that are ensuing are not alone those raised by the Japanese proposal. The United States desires more larger ships; Great Britain wants more cruisers, and Japan, while demanding parity in theory, can do what she desires for her national security with a number of naval vessels less than either of the other Great Powers.

The trouble is, however, that these naval conversations may well lead to an appreciable result. There are the claims of France and Italy to be considered, also those of Russia now that the latter is a member of the League of Nations. One or other, or all these countries, may conservatively object to a cut-and-dried plan, even if such were submitted by the three most powerful naval nations. In any case next year's Naval Conference will give birth to discussions on both the Washington and London Treaties. The attitude of Japan in the circumstances has been defined by her Foreign Office on the basis of the following five points:

- (1) To maintain a strength sufficient to assure adequate naval defence is the inalienable right of any nation, and for Japan security in her own national defence is absolutely necessary for the sake of peace in the Far East.
- (2) Japan seeks reduction in tonnage for each nation based on the spirit of disarmament to render lighter the tax burdens on the peoples and to promote peaceful relations among nations.
- (3) Limitations should be effected on the principle of abolition or reduction of aggressive armaments and of rendering adequate defence armaments.
- (4) Japan intends to terminate the Washington Treaty and conclude a new pact.
- (5) In the event of a breakdown of the Naval Conference, Japan is prepared to take proper measures to assure security, but will nevertheless maintain a serene and peaceful attitude and strive to remain on the best possible terms with the other Powers.

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA

A month spent in Russia is not a long time to study the country, but apparently during that period impressions can be gleaned, even if the traveler is not one of a Soviet-conducted tour. Mr. John Brown, an English Communist, has been there. He belongs to Ruskin College, Oxford, and he was challenged to go to Russia at Lord Nuffield's expense. He went and has returned to England "slightly disillusioned." He is reporting on his experience to Lord Nuffield.

Mr. Brown says now he cannot be a Communist on the active Marxian model after what he has seen. He took a 4,000-mile tour from Moscow to the Black Sea, visiting factories and workers' dwellings. The conclusions he reaches are of interest. One of these was that it was "sickening" to see the Hamptstead intellectual type shepherded through the show places and accepting the statistics and anything official. In Russia, according to Mr. Brown, there has been a complete failure to maintain equality of wages. The coal miner is higher paid than doctors and professors. Housing conditions are "vile," because of the large influx from the country districts to the towns. The standard of living of the higher paid Russian is definitely below that of a man on the dole in England. Mr. Brown, however, says that the Russian experiment will succeed, but that it will take five Five Year Plans to accomplish it to a point where it achieves something near to Western capitalist civilization.

Mr. Brown visited the Putilov works, which employ 30,000 persons. He saw there efficient-looking armaments, especially tanks and machine guns. Factory efficiency is not up to that in England, except in one or two of the show places. There is great activity in Russia in building up an air force, and most women seem to be members of battalions under the heading of the Chemical and Air Defence Association. In Russia, according to Mr. Brown, there are not many smiling faces among the workers. There is a great lack of variety in foodstuffs. Russia is a land of queues. Mr. Brown grew very tired of the sight of these queues. The Soviet is still suffering from the lack of organizers and technicians, and in this respect Americans had been imported, but only with partial success. The Russians themselves, because of their Eastern mentality, do not care about machines. Seemingly they do not know how to work them and drive them to a standstill. Mr. Brown's report of conditions generally bears out what others who have made impartial investigations say of Russia. Mr. Brown went there in a prejudiced state of mind, but apparently has reported just what he saw.

"WAR MEMOIRS"

Mr. Lloyd George's third volume of "War Memoirs" indicates that he must be in the stage of recrimination, that indeed he is riding on the spring tide of that period of life. He has attacked with almost unsparring hand many leaders in Great Britain responsible for Britain's part in the Great War, but not, of course, himself. If his memoirs are to be believed he was never to blame. He is old now, has suffered many political disappointments in later life, and probably suffers as well from Malvolio's complaint; he is sick of self love.

Mr. Lloyd George has attacked Lord Jellicoe, and the Commander of the Grand Fleet in the Great War has replied and torn the ex-Premier's argument to shreds. The author of "War Memoirs" has summoned Lord Carson to his aid as a witness of half-heartedness in the councils of the Admiralty when the war was at its height. Lord Carson, too, has replied and warmly refuted the statements of Mr. Lloyd George. Lord Carson, who was First Lord at the time of which Mr. Lloyd George writes, says he has the liveliest recollections of wholehearted zeal and complete harmony with Admiral Jellicoe and his colleagues. As to the attacks on Sir William Robertson; he is dead, but his book, "Soldiers and Statesmen" is a plain, unvarnished tale which refutes the scurrilous charges in the Georgian publication.

What "War Memoirs" discloses is that Mr. Lloyd George believed that he was not only a great statesman but a great military strategist as well. He saw in the Great War an opportunity to bring his military talents into play. His book shows that he used the authority of his office to interfere with the conduct of the Navy and of the Army, that he prepared plans of campaign solely on his own responsibility, and when they were not adopted at conferences held with representatives of the Allied Powers he laid all the blame for whatever misfortunes ensued on the latter's heads.

The Georgian publication is far from being a true record of military events whatever it may be as proving that Mr. Lloyd George is not lacking in egotism. "Mr. Lloyd George," says The London Morning Post, "records the 'intense reluctance' he felt in 'revealing to the public unpleasant truths which reflect on distinguished public servants,' some of whom are no longer in a position to defend themselves. He overcame that reluctance and has freely used Cabinet minutes and other papers, which we had supposed to be secret, for the purpose of proving his case against those public servants, dead and alive." Publicity of the character in which Mr. Lloyd George indulges is that best calculated to make any man think twice before jeopardizing his self respect in entering into the service of his country.

Sir Robert Donald, when editor of The London Daily Chronicle in 1913, prophesied that people might become too lazy to read and that news would be laid on to house or office just as gas and water are. His vision of the future caused a great deal of mirth at the time, but it has been in part fulfilled by the radio.

The problem of the United States is to find a way out of the impasse created by being a country more planned against than planning. That is the issue in the revision of the New Deal.

BRITISH ALLIANCE

Hear the word "tweeds" and all that is indigenous to British life—mist-shrouded moors, heather, grouse-shooting—comes immediately to mind. Rapidly, however, tweeds are extending their boundaries, for they are being discovered as a "natural" for our own American mode of existence from Maine to California. This season, the buyers from all the smart sports shops went to England, as usual. But this year, they stayed longer and returned with more English suits and topcoats, more English sweaters and bags and belts and scarfs than ever before. The result is that sports departments of shops look like corners of England itself, and to hear the murmur of "Sunningham, Shetland and Jaeger" is as refreshing as it is reassuring—Vogue, New York.

Beauty is but a vain and doubtful good—Shakespeare.

Note and Comment

By R. R. D.

How vain the ardor of the crowd,
How low, how little are the proud,
How indignant the great!

Politics is the science of exigencies.—Parker.

The Big Doctor is looking as rosy and jolly these days as he looked on the morning after he had won first place in a bridge tournament or on the afternoon of the day he beat The Inspector in a challenge game of golf. But the Big Doctor is not rejoicing in recollection of those unexpected victories. His friends at the club maintain that his success at bridge was a fluke; and if you are a friend of The Inspector do not ask him for particulars of that epic or epochal game of golf.

The Big Doctor has attained the summit of all the glories in games, and has turned his attention to other things. He will abandon a game of rummy against an easy mark for the sake of discussing politics. The Big Doctor is an ardent politician. He comes from a part of Canada where nearly all the babies are born little Liberals. He sucked in Liberal principles with his mother's milk. For a long time the principles of Liberalism (another name for opportunism) have been under a dark cloud; but the clouds have been lifted, the sun appears to be breaking through, and the prospects for the future look as rosy as the Big Doctor's countenance. Provincial outposts have been captured, and there is going to be a tremendous assault upon the main citadel at Ottawa.

So there was fire in the eye and exultation on the face of the Big Doctor the other day when he asked us in ralling and triumphant tone of voice what we were going to write about when Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King came into power. We might have replied that "there is many a slip between the cup and the lip," but we did not do that. We might have further replied that there would be no dearth of subjects to write about when his Rt. Hon. leader became Prime Minister, but we did not do that. We might in addition have wished the doctor all the joy possible in anticipation of a political triumph and his gifted but shifty leader satisfaction in tackling his big job, but we did not do that. We merely congratulated the Big Doctor on the improvement in his spirits, and began to think of other things.

The parting shot of the Big Doctor took the form of a question. The Big Doctor asked to be told what Mr. Bennett would do after he was defeated and retired from office. We do not know anything about that, but we have a shrewd suspicion that the Premier will not worry excessively about the loss of his job if he should be defeated. Mr. Bennett has attended to the duties of his high office with a great deal of diligence and some ability, and during his term of office has at least accomplished something for the benefit of Canada. We assume that if he is rejected of the people he will leave office without regret; possibly with some feelings of gratitude and a considerable degree of relief.

If his possible successor were less eager to possess office than he is well known to be, he might be more commiserated than congratulated, for with practically all the provincial administrations knocking at the federal door and not asking but demanding relief, the administration of the public affairs of this Dominion during the coming years will be no sinecure. It is true that Mr. King once declared, in haste and exasperation (and when in power) that not one of the Western provinces would receive one five-cent piece from him; but that may have been because of their political complexion, over which there has come a change. Possibly Mr. King, if and when he becomes Prime Minister, will move for the appointment of a commission to gather data on the subject of relief for the unemployed and for the embarrassed provinces. That is his characteristic method of settling or shelving all troublesome questions. Commissions travel far and sit long, and hardly ever turn in any reports except accounts of their expenses.

We can assure the Big Doctor and all his political and sporting friends that there is no need at all to worry about our position or the position of Mr. Bennett. But there may be some reason to worry about the future of the public business of Canada and the private business of Canadians. That is if Mr. King should be supported by a majority in the next House of Commons and he should attempt to redeem some of the pledges he has given the electorate for the purpose of getting their votes. But the leader of the Big Doctor has a very elastic conscience. He has never given a pledge on any fundamental issue of importance which he has not clear.

either forgotten or evaded or broken when expediency seemed to call for a display of his qualities as an opportunist. There are only two public matters upon which Mr. King has been consistently constant: his inexplicable prejudice against better trade and other relations with the Empire and his partiality for closer trade and other relations with the United States.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of November 3, 1884)

Police Raid.—The police have been preparing for some weeks past for the purpose of making a raid on some of the numerous gambling dens that are to be found on Courtenay and Government Streets. The raid was made on Sunday evening, and was a success. A number of special constables were sworn in for the occasion, and with the full force of the police, a raid was made on a gambling den next to Kwong on Luna's, Courtenay Street. The den was surrounded, and the gamblers were engaged in the game and everything was in full swing when the police dropped in on the scene. There were nearly 100 persons in the room, and the police were at first made an attempt to escape, but the police arrangements were so good that none succeeded, and the Chinese salaried left behind to guard the remainder.

Hurt in Accident.—William Horton, the well-known drayman, fell from his load yesterday, beneath his horse's feet, and was badly cut by the horse's shoe. The wound is in the back and three inches long. Horton sewed up the gash, and Timson was conveyed to his home to await recovery.

St. James Church.—The corner stone of St. James Church will be laid on Thursday, at 3 p.m., by Mrs. Cornwall, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Dame Janet Campbell is Distinguished Authority on Child Welfare

Dame Janet Campbell, M.D., D.B.E., who is a visitor in Victoria at the present time as a guest at Government House, is one of the outstanding authorities on the related subjects of maternal and child welfare.

Touring Canada under the auspices of the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare, Dame Campbell has spoken in nearly all the larger cities of the Dominion and, indirectly to the majority of Canadian women when she addressed the annual meeting of the National Council of Women held in October in Ottawa. As guest-speaker on that occasion, she imparted a message that has penetrated to the farthest confines of the country.

EDUCATED IN LONDON

Educated at the London School of Medicine for Women and at Vienna, where she did post-graduate work, Dame Janet has had a distinguished career. In 1908 she was appointed medical officer under the Board of Education of Great Britain, being on the staff of Sir George Newman at the time when the British School Medical Service was being organized throughout England. Her duties included also the supervision of physical training in the schools.

AVOIDING A DANGEROUS LEAVE-IN

The overall in the opponents' bid suit is the strongest bid that a player has at his command when the opponents have opened the bidding. It is used whenever a player can practically guarantee a game, even with an almost trickless partner, provided some sort of vague fit or some intermediate honor is found. When the hand is not this strong, but is of medium strength the takeout double should be used. If the partner of the doubler holds some actual strength, he should indicate the fact by making more than a minimum response. However, it is occasionally not only possible, but proper to use the overall in the opponents' bid suit rather than the takeout double on a hand which falls a little short of guaranteeing a sure game. This is done on fairly strong hands on which the player has an absolute void of the opponents' suit and knows that his partner probably has both length and strength in the opponents' suit. If a double is made on such a hand, the partner will most probably pass to the double for penalties, and since the doubler's hand is not at all suited for the leave-in, the declarer will be able to get out for a very small set which will by no means compensate the opponents for the game which they probably have. This use of the overall in the opponents' bid suit is shown in the hand below:

Lake Hill Women's Institute Celebrates Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

An epoch-making incident took place Thursday evening when the Lake Hill Women's Institute, the oldest Institute in British Columbia, conferred on their senior member, Mrs. M. E. Service, a specially designed pin on a gold bar, designating membership in the Provincial branch of the organization.

The presentation was made at the Community Centre, Lake Hill, in connection with a banquet given by this branch to the authorized delegates attending the South Vancouver Island Women's Institute annual conference here. The occasion was made to coincide with the centre's celebration of its twenty-fifth anniversary.

A very interesting programme was arranged around the event, beginning with the beautifully-appointed supper, and concluding with an entertainment in the upper hall, at which the Provincial superintendent of Women's Institutes, Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, gave a talk about her recent visit to the Peace River district. There were competitions, music, a display of crafts and decorated tables, and a number of other interesting items also to round out a very pleasant evening.

MADE PRESENTATION
At the request of the Lake Hill Institute president, Mrs. T. Currie, the Provincial W.I. superintendent, Mrs. MacLachlan, made the presentation to Mrs. Service, who was also presented with a handsome bouquet of bronze and gold chrysanthemums. Three other members of the Lake Hill Institute, next in order of seniority were presented with corsage bouquets, Mrs. W. Mercer, Mrs. G. F. Holyoake and Mrs. J. Scott.

Following the supper, Mrs. MacLachlan, Mrs. T. C. Robson and Mrs. H. McGregor made appropriate speeches of thanks to the Lake Hill Institute for their hospitality, the president, Mrs. T. Currie, responding.

PRIZE WINNERS
Winners of the decorated tables contest were: 1. Mrs. Porter; 2. Mrs. Carpenter; 3. Mrs. Service. The winner of the cake-weight guessing contest was Mrs. W. B. Johnson; second prize being won by Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. Shearer. Mrs. A. G. Moody was convener of the excellent evening's entertainment, which included a demonstration in spinning by Mrs. W. Peden, and of basketry by Mesdames Maxwell and Sexton, also of Victoria Institute.

Winners of the competition for best plate of potatoes grown from seed distributed by the Department of Agriculture were: Mrs. G. F. Holyoake, Mrs. T. Currie and Mrs. Bower, the judging done by Mesdames Robson and Maxwell.

ANNUAL ASSEMBLY TO BE HELD HERE

Older Boys' Parliament in Session at Legislative Buildings From December 27 to 31

Some 3,000 boys in British Columbia will go to the polls of November 24 to select representatives for the twelfth annual Older Boys' Parliament, to be held here from December 27 to 31, inclusive.

Prospective members and leaders of boys' groups are urged to note the change in date. Voters' lists and nominees for this Parliament must be in the hands of the Religious Education Council, 410 Dominion Bank Building, Vancouver, by November 8.

The Boys' Parliament is a conference of British Columbia youths between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one who gather in the Legislative Buildings to discuss problems peculiar to Tuxis, Trail Rangers and similar organizations.

John Windebank, of Mission City, is premier and as his assistants he has Lyle Turvey, of Chilliwack, as government critic, and Leonard Martin, of Vancouver, as speaker.

Women's Institutes Actively Support Disease Prevention

Guest Speakers at Closing Session of Annual Conference Pay Tribute to Influence for Good Exercised by Women

A REMINDER of the constructive influence which the women's institutes can exercise in matters of public welfare, particularly in health matters, constituted part of the message of each of the several speakers who addressed the Women's Institutes Conference at their closing session yesterday afternoon; Dame Janet Campbell, D.B.E., distinguished authority on child and maternal welfare, now here from Great Britain in the course of a Dominion-wide lecture tour; Dr. H. E. Young, provincial officer of health; Dr. Cyril Wace, superintendent of the Queen Alexandra Solarium; Mrs. J. D. Gordon, provincial women's institute president; Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, provincial women's institute vice-president; the conference president, Mrs. T. C. Robson, and Mrs. Moss, O.B.E., Cobble Hill.

The special guest of the afternoon was Dame Janet Campbell, in whose honor the entire gathering rose when she arrived. Dame Janet spoke of the esteem in which the women's institutes are held in England, where they are doing fine work and exercising a happy influence in the rural communities. The institute movement had helped to bring women together and given them useful common interests and sympathies. In Australia, the organization known as "Countrywomen" was doing much the same kind of work along educational, health, and community betterment lines, and it had given her much pleasure to find the organization active in this country.

BIG QUESTION
"We are all interested in this big question of health and prevention of illness, especially among mothers and children. It is a matter of special importance to women, who can exercise a great influence by creating the informed public opinion that is necessary to bring about some of the important health measures and changes in preventive medicine methods," said Dame Janet, whose gracious response to the greeting accorded her was warmly applauded.

Mrs. MacLachlan thanked Dame Janet, on behalf of the women's institutes throughout the province, and Mrs. C. Moss, who had worked with Dame Janet in England during the war, paid tribute to her splendid abilities and asked the distinguished guest to convey greetings from the women of British Columbia to the women of England, who were cordially greeting awaiting them when they came here. Mrs. McGregor conveyed greetings from the "Federated Women's Institutes."

PREVENTIVE WORK
The tremendous loss of human life in war had, said Dr. H. E. Young, stressed the importance of conserving the young lives of the succeeding generations, and this had been the origin of the special impetus given to preventive medicine. He pictured the gradual progress made by the movement in British Columbia, where the education of public opinion had been first sought with the idea of forming support for whatever health legislation was brought about.

To this end the Health Department had gone to the women's institutes of the province, where they had always received a fine response. Special tribute was paid to the support given by Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan in this propaganda. She had helped to whip up the conscience of the women by talking in season and out of season to the institutes, until today there was a well unified health service throughout the province. Evidence of this had recently been given by the school trustees in session at Nelson, when they passed a resolution calling on the Government to make health work mandatory. Dr. Young also paid warm tribute to his fine staff of health nurses working in the various districts throughout the province.

THE SOLARIUM
A graphic picture of the achievements and aspirations of the Queen Alexandra Solarium in its treatment of children crippled from surgical tuberculosis was given by Dr. Wace. The four salient points brought out in this address were the necessity of (1) preventive measures, (2) early diagnosis and prompt treatment, (3) prolonged treatment, and (4) the best possible co-operation and co-ordination between hospitals and nursing institutions.

Congenital deformities at the Solarium numbered only about 5 per cent of the cases, this meaning that about 95 per cent were preventable. Bovine and human infection were the two sources of surgical tuberculosis, it was maintained, and much could be done by persistent care and propaganda to avoid these. A great need in the province was the home for the incurable child.

Railway Official Opposed to High Tariff Policies
High tariff barriers are a menace to world peace in the estimation of Miss Alice Lobdell, of Portland, in charge of women's personnel and public relations of the Union Pacific Railway system. In an interview at the Empress Hotel yesterday, she declared she was delighted with Hon. Cordell Hull's announcement on the repentant attitude of the United States on high tariffs. The statement of the United States Secretary of State is tremendously significant, she added.

Miss Lobdell contended that trade barriers were responsible for the development of an abnormal sense of nationalism all over the world. She pointed out that as the world was so closely connected in so many ways, no one country could live unto itself.

DESCRIBE WORK ON TELESCOPES

Astronomical Society Given Explanation of How to Construct Instrument

Construction of a telescope, from the grinding of the concave mirror to the finished mount, was described at last night's meeting of the Victoria Astronomical Society. Three speakers told of the process. They were W. R. Hobday, H. Boyd Brydon and R. F. Hopkins.

Mr. Hobday was given the major task to describe, that of grinding the mirror. He followed the grinding through its various processes, from the use of a rough abrasive to the polishing of the surface with rouge. He also explained how the trueness of the sphere was proven, and other measures made of the focal length and curvature radius.

Mr. Brydon briefly described the mounting and announced that it was expected by the telescope construction group to be able to make mounts available at a cost of $15.

THE FOCAL LENGTH
Mr. Hopkins described why the focal length of F8, or the ratio of eight to one, was the most favored focal length among amateurs. F8, he explained, was the distance at which the object, reflected by the mirror, would appear as a pinpoint of light. This distance is eight times the diameter of a six-inch mirror, or forty-eight inches. It has been found that this is the most satisfactory distance at which to pick up the object in the eyepiece.

After the addresses, the members examined the equipment that had been assembled for the purpose of describing the work.

SEEK ADVICE OF VICTORIA

Eastern Cities Ask Data
Regarding Methods of Encouraging Tourists

Owing to the active interest now being taken by the Federal Government in the tourist industry of Canada, large numbers of inquiries have been received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from cities mainly in the East, asking for information as to the manner in which this city handles the tourist business.

It is gathered from the inquiries received that Victoria is recognized today as one of the outstanding tourist cities of Canada.

SUPPLIES DATA
Acting in compliance with these requests, the local bureau has furnished much information, and Frank Glolma, head of the editorial department of the bureau, has written a special article for Canadian Hotel Management magazine, official journal of Canadian hotelmen. The article appears in the current issue of the magazine and is entitled "Canada Invites More Paying Guests." It contains twenty-odd suggestions on how to increase the tourist business in any part of Canada, as done in Victoria.

HINTS TO CITIES
A few excerpts from the article follow:

"Now that, under the leadership of the Federal Government, Canadians are girding their loins in an effort to increase the flow of tourists into the Dominion, every second man you meet knows exactly what to do and how to do it.

"Have all roads kept in good repair and have repairs done during off season. There should be no detours necessary from main highways during the Summer holiday rush.

"The printed word is still the most effective and cheapest way of reaching your prospective guests.

"Tourists' first and most lasting impressions of a city are obtained from its hotels, tourist camps and furnished apartments. Help the managers of such maintain first-class establishments; do not tax them into bankruptcy.

"Guard against increased prices in stores during the tourist season. See that your visitors leave well satisfied with the treatment they have received—they are your best advertisements."

Building Boom in England Reported

Harry A. Stewart, of this city, returned from a six-month visit to the Old Country, yesterday, making the return voyage aboard the R.M.S. Lochkatrine.

He reports that England just now is experiencing a building boom, and that there is a distinct note of optimism among the people. Building activity, he said, is particularly noticeable in residential and apartment districts.

LEAGUE DUTIES ARE DISCUSSED

Dr. W. A. Riddell, Canadian Representative, Talks at Victoria High School

The Saar problem, duties of the League of Nations, health organization of the League, the international labor organization, and the trouble between Paraguay and Bolivia were some of the outstanding topics touched on by Dr. W. A. Riddell, permanent Canadian representative to the League of Nations, in an address given in the Victoria High School auditorium, yesterday afternoon, to an audience comprised of high school teachers, college students, and all but first-year students of the local student body.

The guest speaker, in talking of the Saar question, stated that various steps had been taken by France and Germany in the hopes of swaying the vote to their side. Dr. Riddell believed that the plebiscite to be held in January of next year; will not result in a serious condition for Europe generally.

HEALTH ORGANIZATION
The health organization as fostered by the League assemblies data every year concerning cures, treatment and cause of leading diseases, and world-famous doctors are brought to Geneva to help in this work. The League, in turn, passes on this information to the countries which compose the League, and this helps to ward off plagues and other diseases. New serums have been discovered by the League to combat diseases, and it is the aim of this body to foster world research of medicine.

It was Dr. Riddell's privilege to have been responsible for the motion which put before the United States Government the question of joining the international labor organization of the League of Nations. The decision made by United States favored membership in this body.

SOMETHING DEFINITE
The League of Nations, Dr. Riddell continued, is still debating on what steps are to be taken in connection with Paraguay and Bolivia, but he said that something definite would be decided on by the end of this month.

Other matters referred to by Dr. Riddell were the discussion of League control of opium and other habit-forming narcotics; intended re-establishment of pre-war trade treaties; the effort being taken by leading industrial countries of the League to set universal standards, and the hope that the young people of today would carry on in the cause of world disarmament.

J. A. Gibson, Rhodes scholar, introduced the guest speaker, after a short opening address by Principal Harry L. Smith. Harry Dee, a member of the teaching faculty of the school, was on the speaker's platform.

MAGICIAN WILL GIVE ILLUSIONS

William Harkness to Present Major Performance for Canadian Legion Branch

William Harkness, conjurer and magician, will provide the most outstanding act on a programme of entertainment to be given by the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, at the Shrine Auditorium, on November 9, it was announced yesterday.

A major illusion act, in which Mr. Harkness will fire a real gun and a real bullet at an assistant on the stage, and break a pane of glass behind the assistant, will be performed.

for the first time in Victoria by Mr. Harkness.

Another illusion to be given will be the doll's house act, shown here for the first time by Blackstone. In this act, Mr. Harkness will produce a girl from a doll's house in which it would appear to be a physical impossibility for anyone to be concealed.

In addition to these two acts, Mr. Harkness will do conjuring and sleight-of-hand tricks.

STIRRING DRAMA NOW AT CAPITOL

"Barretts of Wimpole Street" Co-Stars Three Famous International Players

Three Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Award winners head the cast of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," to be shown today at the Capitol Theatre.

Norma Shearer, in the role of the poet Elizabeth, is starred opposite Fredric March, as the ardent Robert Browning—the same team which broke all records in "Smilin' Thru." Charles Laughton, most recent Academy Award winner, appears in the grim and powerful role of the elder Barrett, his first American picture since the international hit, "Henry the Eighth."

The supporting cast is equally extraordinary. Maureen O'Sullivan, last seen in "Tarzan and His Mate," plays the rebellious sister Henrietta, enamored, in spite of her grim father's protestations, of the gallant Captain Cook, the part played by Ralph Forbes.

Una O'Connor—who scored heavily in her first American picture, "Cavalcade"—is the demure and faithful Wilson, Norma Shearer's maid.

PLAYHOUSE Beautiful Jeanette THEATRE MacDonald will be seen at the Playhouse Theatre for the last time today in "The Cat and the Fiddle," a musical production with Ramon Novarro heading the supporting cast.

DOMINION Director Leo McCarey THEATRE didn't have to rely on books to help him stage an accurate representation of an old-time prize-fight for Mae West's current starring picture, "Belle of the Nineties," now at the Dominion Theatre. He just relied on what he had learned from his father, "Uncle Tom" McCarey, one of the best-known of the old-time fight promoters.

"White Cargo" to Be Presented This Afternoon and Again Tonight—Good Cast

Leon Gordon's sensational play, "White Cargo," dealing as it does with life in Africa, has been well received by Victoria audiences for the past two nights at the Empire Theatre. The play will be repeated this afternoon and again tonight.

The show is being offered by the International Players, of Vancouver, under the direction of Leyland Hodgson, and all parts are well portrayed.

All the players are deserving of praise, but special mention should be made of Mr. Hodgson, who plays the role of Harvey Wisel, the hardened, cynical, sarcastic planter. Wisel, although possessing a rough exterior, is really kind-hearted, and this fact is brought to life in Mr. Hodgson's rendition of the role.

Others in the cast include Emerson Court, Frank Vyvyan, Marian Shockley, Guy Clover, Michael Whelan, Colin Craig, Edward Musgrove and Bruce Riley.

ALAN KING WILL BE FEATURED AT CABARET

The usual Saturday night cabaret dance will take place tonight at the Belmont. Several new numbers will be introduced by the orchestra, and Alan King will sing among other numbers that popular and beautiful ballad, "Two Cigarettes in the Dark."

Early reservation should be made to secure favorite tables.

CHAPTER XXIV
When at last Joan rose a mood of restlessness was upon her. What did this matter, or self-respect? The pride she had to do as to tell Drew to come to her. Happiness was of the moment. Why shouldn't she grasp it?

As she stood for a moment by the underbrush, she saw coming through the woods, two children. One of them, a slender lad, carried a basket. He wore a red sweater and his head was bare. The girl who ran along beside him was younger. Her sweater, too, was red and her head bare. Both of them had crowns of thick curly fair hair.

They were not aware of Joan's presence, and she watched them with curiosity. They stopped in the open space where Joan had danced with Drew. The boy set down his basket and began to strip pine plumes from a young tree. The girl made wreaths of them. When they were finished, the boy produced from the basket two green tunics of cotton cloth and the children put them on over their sweaters. They sat on the ground and took off their stockings and shoes. Then rising, they began to dance.

Joan watched them in amazement. There was a certain grace in what they did, because of their youth and ardor. But they knew only a few crude steps. They stamped and turned. Utterly unconscious of anything except the joy of the moment.

She found herself wanting to join them. Yet she hesitated to intrude on their idyll. They had come to be alone, the presence of an onlooker might seem an affront.

At last, however, when they ceased for a moment, she emerged from behind her screen, and spoke to them with an easy air. "May I have a wreath," she said, "and may I dance?"

They stared at her. "Where did you come from?" the boy demanded. She smiled. "I live in a tree."

"You don't?"

But the girl believed her. "Mother," she said, "who had called her this?"

The boy took off his wreath and handed it to her. "Clilla will make me another."

Joan went behind her leafy screen and removed her shoes and stockings. When she came back she wore the wreath. "Now," she said, "I'm ready."

The boy gazed at her admiringly. "How nice you look. But I don't believe you live in a tree."

"Don't I?" she began to hum a tune and to sway to it. "Come on," she said, and reached out a hand to both of them.

Her feet were white as milk, the pine needles were warm under them. The dance into which she drew the children was wild and rhythmic. They loved it.

When they stopped, breathless, they cried, "Do you know any more? Do you know any more?"

She reached for their hands again, and, feather-light, the three of them circled, cheeks glowing, eyes bright.

World Peace Hope Lives as Growing Desire of Mankind

Canada Pledged to Disarmament as Ultimate World Goal, Dr. W. A. Riddell Tells Victoria Audience—League of Nations' Work Outlined

WHILE temporarily obscured, the seed of disarmament has been firmly imbedded in world consciousness and will eventually reach a fruition with incalculable benefits to mankind, Dr. W. A. Riddell, Canada's representative at Geneva, declared before the Victoria Canadian Club, yesterday. Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., presided over a well-attended luncheon meeting, held at the Empress Hotel.

By way of analogy Dr. Riddell showed that international convention achieved by the League of Nations had been successful in diverting opium from illicit channels in all save two countries, Bulgaria and China. Two factors were involved, being world agreement to control manufacture, and co-ordinated supervision making such control effective.

QUESTION OF TIME
The same plan applied to the cause of disarmament, he predicted, would in time succeed. Meanwhile, it would rank as an outstanding achievement for the League if it could, in twenty-five years, induce sixty countries to forego even a part of their sovereignty for the sake of world peace. Disarmament he classed as the chief problem of Europe, enmeshed with conflicting national desire for power on the one hand, and for security on the other.

Dr. Riddell traced what preceded, took place at, and followed the World Disarmament Conference of 1932, details of which have already been published at length. He showed Canada's instructions to her representatives to have been unqualified endorsement of disarmament, and agreement to advance to any movement that would work to that end.

SECURITY PARAMOUNT
The speaker depicted the play of international forces shaping disarmament discussions, with nations jealous of the power inherent in their armies and navies; but, wishful, too, to be relieved of the burden imposed by need for security against hostile aggression.

Under Article 12, he said, nations signing the convention agreed to abstain from any overt action for a period of three months after breach of diplomatic relations. This was designed to permit of time in which opposing national tempers might cool off.

PRACTICAL CONCEPT
If offensive armaments could be abolished, Article 12 would become an absolute barrier to hasty wars, because no defensive force could be prepared in less than three months for a campaign of aggression. Dr. Riddell said he believed in time this result could be brought about.

The practical difficulty before the League at the moment lay more in agreement on the ratio of national armaments than in any obstinate will against disarmament. The Bureau of the Disarmament Conference would meet this month at Geneva, and next year a determined effort will be made by the League to compose objections in a new approach to the whole question.

SUPERVISION CONCEDED
Three types of countries had to be considered, being those without the means of fabricating arms, nations dependent on private arms manufacture, and nations with state arsenals. Supervision of both state arsenals and private arms manufacture was being gradually conceded as necessary, and this concession afforded a new and better approach to both the ratio of armament and their eventual limitation. Dr. Riddell continued.

It was to be remembered that great armaments did not necessarily mean great menace, but danger always lay in efforts to change the ratio of relative strength of one country in relation to others. Complete abolition of private arms manufacture would be a step forward, but was not practicable so long as Great Britain, the United States and some other countries depend solely on these sources of equipment.

WILL TO PEACE
Limitation and supervision were practical, and were worth a trial, he declared. Deadlocks in the past had arisen from disagreement as to equality of arms, and security of national boundaries from aggression. There was, however, a continuing will to peace, he believed.

"Nations desire to reduce their arms. I believe sincerely in that. But they still want to retain the power that armies, navies, and air forces give them. If we can, inside twenty-five years, persuade sixty nations to forego some part of their sovereignty in the cause of world peace, it will be an achievement beyond price," Dr. Riddell declared.

SAAR TO GERMANY?
Disarmament will not make much progress while the Saar question is unsettled. Tension in the Saar is the second war scare I have seen in four weeks. I do not anticipate that the Saar problem will create war. Even parliaments and the press say more than they really mean, at times. While it is not for me to say how the vote will go, I think the Saar will either go to Germany or to the League. I question very much if it is the business of the League to administer territory.

While the disarmament movement has slowed down for the immediate present, I believe the work of the League has been well done, and will prove eminently worth

MR. HUGH MACDONALD
Of 1239 Pandora Avenue, is today receiving the congratulations of his many friends on the celebration of his ninetieth birthday. Since coming to Victoria fifty-five years ago, Mr. Macdonald has become an esteemed member of the Metropolitan Church. For sixty-two years he has also been a member of the Loyal Orange Order. Owing to failing health, however, Mr. Macdonald will be unable to receive visitors.

City and District

General Meeting—There will be a general meeting of the Federated Council of Youth on Monday, at the Y.M.C.A., at 8 p.m.

Will Speak Monday—Mrs. R. P. Steeves, M.P.P. for North Vancouver, will speak on Monday afternoon 2:45 o'clock in the new C.C.F. Hall at Mount Tolmie.

Will Meet Growers—Hon. K. C. Macdonald will meet Vancouver Island potato growers at Duncan on Monday.

Liberal Ward Meeting—The Ward Three Liberal Association held a meeting last night preliminary to holding its annual meeting on November 16, when officers for the year will be elected.

Vital Statistics—British Columbia recorded 853 births, 447 deaths and 454 marriages during September. Provincial health officers said yesterday. In Victoria there were 77 births, 46 deaths and 40 marriages.

Important Meeting—An important meeting of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Bastion Street clubrooms. Group insurance will be discussed and all members are urged to attend.

Work Commenced—Work has commenced upon the building at the corner of Douglas and Yates Streets to re-fit the premises, which are to be occupied by the Vancouver Drug Company. The work is estimated to cost $10,000, and will be rushed to completion.

Ward Five Liberals—The annual meeting and election of officers of Ward Five Liberal Association will be held at Liberal headquarters, Broughton and Government Streets, Wednesday at 8 p.m. All members of Ward Five are requested to be present.

Taxi By-Law—The new traffic regulations governing the operation of taxicabs in the city are now being enforced by the city police, and no taxicab company in future will be allowed to charge rates less than the minimum set out in the by-law, which was drafted by the council after consultation with the taxicab companies.

Addresses Kinsmen—Comte Jean de Suzannet was the guest speaker at Thursday night's dinner meeting of the Kinsmen Club. He gave an illustrated lecture on Indo-China. Many beautiful slides, showing the scenic wonders of the country, the remnants of its ancient civilization, beautiful old temples, and other interesting scenes were shown.

Is Nominated—A meeting of the Tuxis and Trail Ranger group was held last night in the Metropolitan United Church Trail Rangers, last night. The election night for the Boys' Parliament will be on Saturday, November 24, at the Y.M.C.A.

Advice to Flancones—British Columbia marriage commissioners have been notified from Ottawa to advise intending parties to a marriage contract between a British subject and one of foreign extraction, to inquire first into the status of such union on foreign soil. Naturalization laws vary widely on the subject around the world, it is stated.

Social Evening—Members of the Oak Bay United Church Tuxis Group were hosts to Metropolitan United Church Trail Rangers, last night, at a social evening in the Hampshire Road Hall. In a basketball game between the two groups, the Oak Bay boys won, 37-23. Following this contest, badminton was enjoyed, and refreshments were served later.

Trial Nearing End—The trial of John Dumas vs. New Method Laundry is nearing completion in the Supreme Court here. Mr. Justice Murphy was assured yesterday by Young Wife—Guess what I've cooked for your dinner.

Young Husband—I'll try. Let me see it.

Dr. Frank Patterson Says
Fine Co-operation Among Conservatives

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP).—The Conservative party in British Columbia is showing a spirit of co-operation which he believes will make it stronger than it has been for five years, Dr. Frank Patterson, president of the provincial association, declared here tonight. He was addressing a meeting of the Point Grey Conservative Association.

Principal efforts of the provincial executive have been toward uniting the party and creating a better feeling among the rank and file, Dr. Patterson said.

Unity and harmony were met with throughout some thirty ridings from which he has just returned, the speaker added.

TIMES CHANGING
Times are changing, he declared, and it is the duty of the Conservative party to realize this. The day of licence in business is passing and Government control is becoming more and more necessary if society is to cope with the conditions created by the waste of war, the breakdown of exchange mechanism and the slump in prices. The Conservative party is able to carry out this policy, Dr. Patterson said.

Dr. Patterson had high praise for work being done by Premier R. B. Bennett and the Federal Conservative party.

"THE CHILD"

By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.

The work of the child's physician is tremendously important, as he advises on the care and training of future citizens and consequently plays, next to the parents and teachers, the biggest role in determining the health, the efficiency and the personality of future citizens. In his endeavor to benefit the child he must not overlook five essentially vital points which more than anything else contribute to their goal—the welfare of the child.

1. That first and foremost the child is a spiritual being and that this side of his nature must be given opportunity to flower and develop.
2. That he has a mind in the making, which, when properly trained, can be guided and directed towards the accomplishment of much good in the world.
3. That, as the child's environment affects the child from birth to old age and from hour to hour, and very largely determines what he will be.

International Race For 12-Metre Craft Under Consideration

North American Yacht Racing Union Hopes to Interest Skippers for Event in United States Waters Next Summer

BOSTON, Nov. 2 (AP).—The North American Yacht Racing Union today announced plans for an international race between 12-metre yachts, which it hopes will bring the best skippers and fastest craft of half a dozen or more countries together in American waters next summer.

The union waited until time expired, October 31, for another challenge for the America's Cup, which was not forthcoming before making its announcement.

The 12-metre boats, although 70 feet long, with masts as lofty as a seven or eight-story building, are much smaller and cost far less than the big "J" class sloops which race for the America's Cup. For that reason the union believes there is a good prospect of several countries entering the several prospective contenders being launched.

The union comprises approximately 168 yacht clubs and associations in the United States and Canada, situated on both east and west coasts and the Great Lakes.

The countries regarded as most likely to challenge are England, Norway, Sweden, France, Canada and Bermuda. Germany, Spain and Argentina are mentioned as possible contenders.

Seattle Salesman Convicted of Fraud in Organizing Three Alaska Reindeer Companies

SEATTLE, Nov. 2 (AP).—E. A. Krussman, Pocatello, Idaho, salesman, and O. A. Waechter, Seattle and Alaska business man, were acquitted yesterday by a Federal Court jury of using the mails to defraud in connection with the organization of three Alaska reindeer companies.

Thomas J. Howard, fifty-one, Seattle salesman, was convicted on five counts.

He was accused of organizing the companies to sell stocks and representing to investors that the companies owned reindeer valued at $1,750,000. The Government stated that the herd was practically valueless and had dwindled to a few animals when the money was collected from investors.

Sentence will be pronounced on November 5.

HIGH SCHOOL DANCE HELD AT NANAIMO

NANAIMO, Nov. 2. — Nanaimo High School pupils, dressed in colorful costumes and assisted by their teachers, held their annual Halloween dance in the Odd Fellows' Hall, tonight. Novelty dances, for which suitable prizes were given, were featured. The proceeds will be used for the school's annual Christmas dance.

Tokio Flooded by Torrential Rains

TOKIO, Nov. 2 (CP-Havas).—Fifteen thousand houses today were under water in Tokyo and district as a result of an off-season typhoon that struck last night.

Rain was torrential. The damage was small, however, and no loss of life was reported.

THREE ROBBERS ARE QUICKLY CAPTURED

LIND, Wash., Nov. 2 (AP).—Three robbers, with one gun and a flat tire, were captured within half an hour after they obtained about $400 at the First National Bank here today.

A posse of business men hurriedly formed by Sheriff Melvin Reich found the robbers changing the tire a short way east of here.

TAKING ACTION AGAINST SHIP

Members of Floridan's Crew Want Damages for Alleged Injuries

PORTLAND, Nov. 2. — Charging that the steamship Floridan was unseaworthy, three of its crew members yesterday sued for $30,000 damages for injuries they allegedly suffered when the ship was perilously buffeted in a storm off the Oregon coast a week ago.

The complaint alleged that the owners or charterers lashed on the main deck between the fourth and fifth hatches a spare propeller, weighing several tons, which lay between certain chains used in steering the vessel.

It was also alleged that the anchor was insecurely fastened, that it shifted, jamming the steering gear and rendering the vessel helpless in the storm.

The vessel was arrested from sailing for the Atlantic Coast, but permitted to proceed to Astoria, Ore., at the mouth of the Columbia River. The vessel has been in drydock here for repairs.

POPULAR NAVAL RATING LEAVES

Thomas Girdlestone, Chief Yeoman of Signals, Honored by Messmates

THOMAS H. GIRDLESTONE

Thomas H. Girdlestone, chief yeoman of signals, a popular member of the chief and petty officers' mess of the Royal Canadian Navy, Esquimalt, is en route today for England after completing twenty-five years' service in the navy. Prior to his departure he was feted by his messmates, who, on Sunday night, entertained in his honor with an impromptu concert at the R.C.N. Barracks, when he was presented with a cocktail shaker, suitably engraved. Thursday night also he was entertained by the 16th Canadian Scottish at the Armories with a smoker.

Born in England, Chief Yeoman Girdlestone joined the navy at an early age, and saw active service all through the war, chiefly with mine sweepers, being wounded while in action. He joined the Royal Canadian Navy in 1920 in England as a signalman. Shortly afterwards he came to Canada from Halifax, being transferred to Victoria. He won his present rank by gradual promotion, and retires now with two months' pension leave.

Highly popular with his messmates, he has always taken an active interest in mess affairs, both inside and outside the service, encouraging social activities and good fellowship among the men. He was popular, also, in the various military messes, having done a great deal to encourage interchange of amenities between the army and navy. When he left Thursday night on the Ss. Princess Joan for Vancouver, en route to England, he was accorded a resounding send-off by the two services.

Sailing for Sunny Climes

Motor Launch Serves Vast Territory Along Coast of Australia

No other mail boat in Australian waters traverses such a lonely route as the Maroubra, a twenty-ton flat-bottomed motor launch, which once every month, weather permitting, sets out from Darwin (N.T.) with mails and food supplies for Australia's most isolated white settlements and police stations, voyaging across the dangerous waters along the northwestern coast of the territory.

The only existing chart of these waters is that which was mapped by the admiralty surveying vessels nearly 100 years ago. As a result the Maroubra braves the dangers of shipwreck every time she sets out, but for several years now she has ridden these northern waters through cyclones and storms, and has weathered them all. Once or twice she has gone aground, but has been refloated without damage.

COVERS 1,000 MILES
The monthly voyage of Maroubra covers more than 1,000 miles, and very rarely is she without several passengers. Buffalo hunters, stockmen, prospectors, missionaries and "globe trotters" are compelled to journey on the little vessel to reach the vast country in the northwest corner of the territory.

As she lumbers along, with turtles and dugons tumbling in the blue waters ahead of her, the news of Maroubra's coming is sent along the low shores of the mainland by spiraling smoke signals, and at the mouth of every tropical river the vessel is met by hordes of semi-civilized blacks, who venture out in crude dug-out canoes into the crocodile-infested streams, calling "Baccy, baccy." For tobacco, these aborigines will trade anything.

BOAT PLYS ON LONELY ROUTE

Motor Launch Serves Vast Territory Along Coast of Australia

No other mail boat in Australian waters traverses such a lonely route as the Maroubra, a twenty-ton flat-bottomed motor launch, which once every month, weather permitting, sets out from Darwin (N.T.) with mails and food supplies for Australia's most isolated white settlements and police stations, voyaging across the dangerous waters along the northwestern coast of the territory.

The only existing chart of these waters is that which was mapped by the admiralty surveying vessels nearly 100 years ago. As a result the Maroubra braves the dangers of shipwreck every time she sets out, but for several years now she has ridden these northern waters through cyclones and storms, and has weathered them all. Once or twice she has gone aground, but has been refloated without damage.

Empress of Asia Will Sail Today For Orient Seas

Sailing for the Philippine Islands by way of Japan and China ports, the Canadian Pacific Steamships liner Ss. Empress of Asia, Captain A. V. R. Lovegrove, R.N.R., will clear from Rithet Piers at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon for Yokohama, her first port of call on the other side of the Pacific. The Asia is due here from Vancouver at 4 o'clock to pick up passengers and take on mails and cargo. The ship will have 250 travelers in all classes aboard, the third class list being particularly heavy.

On her way to California ports, the Pacific Steamship Lines Ss. Emma Alexander is scheduled to arrive here at 10 o'clock this evening from Seattle, Island and Mainland passengers will join the liner here, and some general cargo will be loaded. She is posted to leave for San Francisco at midnight.

Owner of Short Railway System Victoria Guest

"The East Carolina Railway is the only line on the entire North American Continent that is now in the hands of the man who built it," declared Henry Clark Bridges, owner, president, and general manager of the railroad, who arrived here yesterday.

The line is sixty miles long and operates between Tarboro and Snowhill. It acts as a feeder to the Atlantic Coast, and Norfolk & Southern trunk lines in the Blue Ridge Mountain country.

Mr. Bridges is opposed to the NRA on the grounds that it robs people of initiative, and removes competition, which he thinks is still the life of trade.

Science Called in To Aid Worship of Churches of Today

A TINY chamber off the chancel, not for church vestments or the sacred elements, but crowded with mechanical apparatus, electric switches, flashlights, knobs and many gadgets, is an absolutely essential part of the Gothic edifice of Riverside Church, New York, and its equipment is a necessity to the conduct of its public worship. Modern science has been called in to aid devotion. From this point of view it may be said that the machine shop becomes an adjunct to the pulpit and the altar, and Signor Marconi an assistant to Dr. Harry E. Fosdick, the renowned preacher of this famous church. This interesting combination of the Middle Ages and the Twentieth Century will be described in tomorrow's issue.

WILL DISCUSS H. H. STEVENS

Rev. E. F. Church to Preach on Political Situation at Nation's Capital

At the Metropolitan Church, Sunday, Rev. E. F. Church will preach on the political situation that has developed in Ottawa, especially in its moral aspects, taking as his special theme "The Honorable H. H. Stevens—Martyr or Fool." Mr. Church will take the position that definite warnings should be given to Government leaders at this time. The choir, under the direction of Frank Tupman, will present the anthem, "Comes at Times a Stillness" (Woodward), and H. L. Harmsworth will sing as a solo, "The Lord Is King" (Coombs).

The special series of song services will be continued previous to the evening service under the general title, "Finding the Hymnary," with Edward Parsons at the console of the organ.

Rev. J. Harwood A. Warr will conduct the morning service and will preach on "Only One String Left." The choir will sing two anthems, "Glorious Is Thy Name" (Mozart) and "Almighty and Merciful God" (West). The children will meet in the senior service and Mr. Warr will tell the story of "The Raja."

CLERICAL SYNOD IS ORGANIZED

Liberal Catholic Clergy Hold Initial Meeting of Western Church Leaders in Vancouver

The first meeting of the Clerical Synod of the Western Church of Western Canada was held this week in Vancouver, when the clergy of churches west of the Great Lakes assembled at the Church of St. Raphael, the Archangel, Vancouver.

Rev. G. A. Love, of Calgary, celebrated the Holy Eucharist, assisted by Rev. H. J. Barney, rector of St. Raphael's, and Rev. Christopher Freer, rector of the Church of St. George, Victoria.

The synod, which had been called by authority of Rt. Rev. F. W. Pigott, of London, England, presiding bishop of the Liberal Catholic Church, was presided over by Rev. G. A. Love, who represented the bishop. Plans for the organization and extension of the work of the church in Western Canada were discussed, and recommendations made to the bishop regarding the appointment of a vicar-general. An appeal was made for support for The Liberal Catholic Magazine, the international organ of the Liberal Catholic Church, and also for a proposed Canadian leaflet.

Monday afternoon was devoted to a discussion of the rites and ceremonies of the church.

On the preceding Sunday morning, the Holy Eucharist was celebrated by Rev. Christopher Freer, assisted by Rev. H. J. Barney and Rev. G. A. Love, who preached the sermon. Rev. J. Walter-Hughes was also present in the sanctuary, together with Rev. F. Erwig, a visitor from the Church of St. Michael and All-Angels at Hulsen, Holland, who is in deacon's orders.

The services of the Liberal Catholic Church of St. George, Room 6, Arcade Building, tomorrow, will be the Holy Eucharist at 11 o'clock and Solemn Benediction, with an address by the rector on "Prayer and the Lord's Prayer," at 7:30.

Opened by Bishop Cridge

CHURCH OF OUR LORD

On Sunday the Church of Our Lord will celebrate its sixtieth anniversary. On the first Sunday in November, 1874, the late Bishop Cridge conducted the first service in the present church edifice. Four years ago the Bishop Cridge Memorial Hall was erected and dedicated to the memory of the founder of the Church of Our Lord. The services on Sunday will be of a special character, the guest preachers for the day being Rev. E. F. Church at the morning service and Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., at the evening service. Special music will be rendered by the choir.

WORLD JEWRY IS LECTURE SUBJECT

Rev. A. E. Danks, of Montreal, search Society, to Discuss Evangelization of Israel

Rev. Canon W. Cooper, rector of St. James' Church, Vancouver, will lead the annual "Quiet Day" of the ministers of Greater Victoria in St. Aidan's United Church, Mount Tolmie, on Monday. The sessions will be held from 10 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 4, luncheon to be served by the ladies' organization of the congregation. The usual monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association will not take place.

RASPUTIN TO BE LECTURE SUBJECT

Rev. M. Billester Will Speak Twice at Emmanuel on Russia—Morning, Dr. A. S. Imrie

On Lord's Day morning Dr. Andrew S. Imrie will preach in Emmanuel Baptist Church, Gladstone Street and Fernwood Road, on the theme, "Touched With the Flame of Quenching Fire."

At the afternoon mass meeting in Emmanuel, Rev. Michael Billester, of the Russian Mission, will speak on "Rasputin, the Holy Devil of Russia, or Why the Holy Devil His Throne," and in the evening Mr. Billester will give his life story, or "How a Russian Found Christ."

The following music will be given under the leadership of W. H. Muncy: Morning, "Creation's Hymn" (Beethoven); evening, "I Waited for the Lord" (Mendelssohn), soloists, Gladys Marchant and Nettie Parfitt.

'WAITING CHRIST' IS SERMON TOPIC

Rev. G. A. Reynolds Will Speak on Open Door—Lord's Supper in Morning

The minister of First Baptist Church, Rev. G. A. Reynolds, will occupy his pulpit tomorrow morning and evening, taking as his morning theme "The Waiting Christ" (Rev. iii, 20). The subject for the evening service will be "Starting Afresh" (John iii, 5); a new beginning with a new attitude to God, to the past, and to the future.

The Lord's Supper will be administered at the close of the morning service. Mr. Green will give cornet selections as part of the musical programme.

WHAT HANDS SHOW TO BE DISCUSSED

Dr. Thompson Has Attractive Evening Topic—Morning Sermon, "Programme of Religion"

On Sunday morning, Rev. W. J. Thompson, B.A., D.D., will preach at the Victoria City Temple, on "The Programme of Religion." His evening sermon will be an interesting comment upon "What Your Hands Reveal."

The City Temple Choir will sing Mason's anthem, "My Song Shall Be of Mercy and Judgment," at the morning service, and Sir G. A. Macfarren's "The Lord Is My Shepherd," in the evening. "Lift Thine Eyes," by Mendelssohn, will be sung in the evening, by a trio consisting of Mrs. A. Sabiston, Mrs. G. A. A. Hebdon and Mrs. M. Hammond.

HEALING TO BE PRAYER THEME

Dr. Davies Will Hold Special Morning Service at Empire Theatre

Responding to the call of need for spiritual healing, Dr. Clem Davies will conduct a divine healing service next Sabbath morning, extending an invitation to those who desire prayer for mental, spiritual and physical healing, either for themselves or loved ones, to be present.

At the evening service, Dr. Davies will answer the following:
"With millions in sorrow, need, sickness, distress and other adversity, suffering from being ill-housed, ill-clothed, ill-fed, ill-led; and many becoming outcasts, parasites, agnostics or rebellious—why have the leaders in church and state failed to bring relief from distress?"

"How can one keep from lying awake at night, brooding over unfortunate, unhappy events of one's life?"

"Why do people doubt the return of spirits when all people believe that the spirit passes from the body at death? If they pass away, can they not return?"

"How can a Christian believe in capital punishment, when God commands 'Thou shalt not kill'?"

"Can a person be a true Christian and live on interest from investments?"

"What is the real meaning behind Hon. H. H. Stevens' resignation?"

"What is the secret of good health?"

"I am in a 'tough' spot, what do you recommend?"

"How can Mr. McGeer, holding the views he does on the present economic system and usury, contemplate becoming Mayor of Vancouver?"

"Is advertising a racket?"

"What is the meaning of the seven plagues, mentioned in the Book of the Revelation?"

SURE BELIEFS WILL BE TOLD

Dr. W. G. Wilson to Begin Morning Series With "Babel of Tongues"

Commencing a short series of addresses on the general theme, "The Things Most Surely Believed," Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., will speak in First United Church on Sunday morning on "A Babel of Tongues, or Fifty Ways of Being Saved."

At the evening service Rev. A. de B. Owen will preach, taking for his subject "Prophecy, Priests and Kings." The sacrament of Baptism will be celebrated at the morning service.

Under the direction of W. C. Fyfe, the following music will be rendered: Morning, solo, "A Perfect Prayer" (Mervin Stenson), Mrs. George McMoran; anthem, "Great Is the Lord" (Marchant), solo, James Petrie. Evening, quartette, "Take Time to Be Holy" (Stebbins), Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Miss E. Robinson, Maurice Thomas and J. L. Louden; anthem, "Rejoice in the Lord" (Bridge), solo, Mrs. W. H. Wilson. Organ voluntaries by Alfred Gurney: Pledge in A Minor (Bach), Sarabande, Gavotte and Aria (Greig's Holberg Suite), Pledge in C (Bach).

The United Free Church of Scotland (Continuing) has dropped the last word of the title which it has held since the Scottish union five years ago. This church is the dissenting body which would not join the Church of Scotland. It will now be known as "The United Free Church of Scotland. It is a sign of the growing success of this church that during the last five or six weeks an average of over one new church has been opened per week.

Everlasting Punishment To Be Theme

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 4. The golden text is: "Whoso diggeth a pit shall fall therein; and he that rolleth a stone, it will return upon him" (Proverbs xxvi, 27).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Plead my cause, O Lord, with them that strive with me; fight against them that fight against me" (Psalms xxxi, 1). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Keys to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The sharp experiences of belief in the suppositious life of matter, as well as our disappointments and ceaseless woes, turn us like tired children to the arms of divine Love. Then we begin to learn Life in divine Science" (p. 322).

LUTHERANISM TO BE NIGHT THEME

Rev. T. A. Jansen Will Hold Reformation Service at Grace Lutheran Church

Tomorrow morning, at 11 o'clock, "The Tribute Penny" will be the subject of the pastor, Rev. Theo. A. Jansen. There will be an anthem by the choir, "The Beauty of Thy Peace" (Carrie B. Adams). The Young People, at 7 o'clock, will discuss "Religion and Art," with Miss Lillian Nelson as leader.

At 7:45 o'clock there will be a special service, the theme, "The sermon subject will be, 'What Is the Lutheran Church?' The choir will sing 'Faith of Our Fathers' (Henry Walton) and there will be a solo by J. J. Matheson.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

SCIATICA AND LOW BACK PAIN

Whenever I see an individual walking with a slight stoop forward, the back held rigid, the length of the steps shortened, and a "drawn" or "broken" car down a steep hill.

look on the face, I feel like stopping them and suggesting treatment, not as a physician, but as one who has been a fellow sufferer.

This lower back pain and sciatica is due in most cases to some trouble between the last bone of the spine and the central or wedge-shaped bone between the two hip bones.

In many cases it is due to a fall, stepping forward when the ground or floor was thought to be level, throwing a ball, swinging a golf club, or breaking a car down a steep hill.

The injury causes the above-mentioned bones to get too close together so that there is not enough room for the nerves from the spinal cord to pass out properly: it is the pressure on these that causes the pain. That this is really the cause is proven by widening this space either by having the patient lie on the abdomen on a pillow or by wearing a brace that keeps the two bones well apart. The pain then disappears.

When there is no history of a fall or other accident, the first thought, then, should be an X-ray of the teeth, a thorough examination of the nose, throat and sinuses, and, if

by injury; infected teeth, tonsils, gall bladder or intestine may cause an inflamed condition in the joints between these two bones, and deposits from this inflammation can also lessen the space through which the nerves must pass, and the pressure on the nerves causes the low back pain and sciatica.

When there is no history of a fall or other accident, the first thought, then, should be an X-ray of the teeth, a thorough examination of the nose, throat and sinuses, and, if these are normal, an examination of the gall bladder should be made. Some physicians put the patients to bed for a few days, then apply a plaster cast, which is worn for a number of weeks. Other physicians strap up the joints with adhesive just as they would a sprained or loosened joint elsewhere in the body. After one or two weeks, with one or two strappings, a well-fitting brace or belt is adjusted which keeps the two bones well apart.

When the condition is not too severe the adhesive and brace treatment is excellent, as it allows the patient to get about easily.

Brown was taking his boy through the zoo. When they came to the gorilla, the youngster asked, "What is that, daddy?"

"That's one of our ancestors, my boy."

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"DROP IN THE BUCKET"

That is not a drop in the bucket; it is constantly used in relation to something which bears a negligible proportion to every thing around it.

This expression is so familiar as to lead us, erroneously, to believe that it is an American or Anglo-Saxon idiom. As a matter of fact, it goes back much farther.

We have it in fact, as we have so many of our best colloquialisms, from the Bible. This one is from Isaiah xl, 15:

"Behold, nations are as a drop out of a bucket, and as the small dust of the balance, are they counted; behold, isles are like the flying dust."

NEW WESTMINSTER CAGERS PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Conny Smythe Will Use Youngsters on Third String Line

Manager of Leafs Has Trio of Former St. Michael's College "Kids" for Offensive Work This Winter in Hockey League—Has Powerful Attack Lined Up—Defence Is Formidable

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP).—Out of the junior hockey hat that has supplied plums before, Conny Smythe has lifted a forward line designed to astonish those pessimists who said the quick-thinking, fast-talking Leafs couldn't go on for ever picking amateur winners for his National League force. The Leafs were the outstanding team in hockey last season, despite the fact they won neither the N.H.L. title nor the Stanley Cup. Their season's record far surpassed that of any other team. Unexpectedly, they were set back by the Montreal Canadiens, who were managed by the veteran Harold Cotton.

SMYTHE SATISFIED
Because Smythe is just about satisfied he has picked three plums for his new line, he is a machine for goal-getting.

igned Charlie Conacher, Harvey Jackson and Red Horner, from the Toronto Marlboro Juniors, 1929 Canadian junior champions. This time he selected Art Jackson, younger brother of Harvey; Red Metz and Pep Kelly, from the latest Memorial Cup champions, St. Michael's College. In view of the fact the Conacher-Joe Primeau-Jackson string is known as the "kid" line, the young fellows from the Irish school are likely to be known as the "infant" line. They have shown great promise in practice and in exhibition games this fall. It seems certain the trio of youngsters will at least give the trio a thorough trial under big league fire, perhaps sending Doraty and Cotton to Syracuse, of the International League, in the meantime.

The Leaf No. 2 forward line, Hec Kilrea, Bill Thoms and Buzz Boll, will be just about the fastest skating string in hockey. Kilrea and Boll are tremendously fast skaters, and the line is expected to deliver more goals than last season. Primarily, however, it is useful for defensive purposes. There are few back-checkers as effective as Boll and Kilrea.

STRONG DEFENCE
The Leaf No. 1 defence, which will make up Toronto's first defence, and the veteran Happy Day and Young "Flash" Hollet will team on the second.

George Hainworth will play goal for this team that packs great defensive potentialities, but invariably forgets all about defence when it goes into action. It is a machine for goal-getting.

BOBBY SPAVEN DEFEATED IN GOLF TOURNEY

Champion Beaten by McSween in Semi-Finals—Hodgson Reaches Final

Bobby Spaven, who ruled the fairways of local caddydom for the past twelve months, relinquished his crown, yesterday, in the semi-finals of the annual competition, at the Uplands Golf Club, when he bowed before the steady playing of J. McSween by the narrow margin of one up. An interesting struggle from the start, Spaven tried doggedly to remain in the running in defence of his title, but in vain. In today's thirty-six-hole final, McSween will face G. Hodgson, who reached the last bracket by his one-up decision over L. Derman.

Both finalists were carried extra holes in their quarter-final assignments. Hodgson was taken to the nineteenth before disposing of A. Gostiller, while McSween went the same distance to eliminate H. Haylock. Defeat of Freddy Painter, one of the favorites, featured the morning round. He faded from the picture before L. Derman, 3 and 2.

Complete results follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

HOOP SQUADS IN EASY VICTORIES

Panorium, Dealats and West Road Cagers Chalk Up One-Sided Scores

With the winners showing a marked superiority over their opponents, one-sided scores featured yesterday evening's Victoria and District Basketball League fixtures played at the Victoria High School gymnasium before a small crowd of fans.

In the opening game, Panorium women's "B" cagers snored the Standard Laundry quintette under a 64-10 score, for their third straight victory of the season. Mary Wilson, sharp-shooting forward, led the

LOCAL SQUAD CHANGED FOR TODAY'S GAME

Doug Laird and Eddie Viggers Will Be on Starting Line-Up

With Wes Harper, fullback, and Gordie Bell, outside right, forced out of the Victoria United line-up on account of injuries, two last-minute changes in the local squad which will battle Nanaimo this afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park at 2:30 o'clock in a Brackman-Ker Cup fixture, were announced yesterday evening by Manager Jack Ewing.

Doug Laird, Victoria West defence star, has been brought into the line-up to replace Harper, while Eddie Viggers, who patrols the right lane for the Saanich Thistles, will fill the vacancy created by the absence from the Victoria United eleven of Gordie Bell. With these exceptions, the starting line-up will be the same as released last Monday evening by Pat Mulcahy, club secretary.

LAIRD TO PLAY
Louis De Costa will be between the sticks, with Reg Stoffer and Doug Laird, two youngsters, holding down the fullback berths. Ronnie Williams, Joe Crowe and Jimmie Hay will form the halfback line, and should prove capable of breaking up many of the Nanaimo attacks.

Eddie Viggers will be on the right wing, with George Payne, one of the city's most promising wingers, patrolling the opposite lane. John Watt, veteran centre, will be in his usual position, and will be flanked by "Scotty" Stewart on the right and Noel Morgan on the left.

DEALATS WIN
Dealats, clever intermediate "A" boys' squad, kept their winning streak intact, this time at the expense of the Canadian Scottish, by chalking up a 51-17 victory.

In the final game on the card, West Road men's "C" hoopers ran roughshod over the New Method Laundry team and registered a 60-27 win, their second of the season.

Fred Harding refereed, and the teams follow:

Panorium—M. Peden (8), E. Bernard (12), L. Sparks (7), M. Wilson (23), G. Taylor, R. Bethell (12), E. Trotter and P. Carney (12). Total, 64.

Standard Laundry—H. Sent (2), I. Crawford (7), D. Benwell (1), N. Purss, H. Anderson, V. Holt, F. McDonald and V. Green. Total 10.

Dealats—Robb (18), Coates (6), Taylor (2), McLean (6), Lansell (8), Campbell (6), Shepherd (2), and Naysmith (3). Total, 51.

Canadian Scottish—Alexander, Day (4), Knight, Walsh (7), Thorburn (3), Cusance (3). Total, 17.

West Road—Charlie Suggett (6), K. Young (18), Claude Suggett (6), G. Lannon (14), W. Butler (4), M. Lannon and C. Suggett (12). Total, 60.

New Method Laundry—Viggers (9), Jones, Crawford (7), Menzies, Paulding (8), and Dillabough (4). Total, 27.

RUGBY LINE-UPS

Oak Bay Wanderers (senior)—Harper, Meade-Robbins, Scrimshaw, Preece, Symons, Gann, Hutchinson, Moore, Mayhew, Sept, Harrison, Farquhar, Pocock, Carter, Donaldson and Campbell.

10:00—Miss E. Irvine, J. W. Rawlinson and Miss E. M. Moore, G. A. Bruce.

10:30—Mrs. M. C. Lovell, H. S. Morgan and A. N. Other.

ADANACS BRINGING STRONG SQUAD FOR GAME WITH RIBBONS

Coach Max Shiles Will Lead Royal City Quintette Into Action at High School Gymnasium in First Inter-City Tussle of Season—Locals Confident of Victory

When the New Westminster Adanacs and Blue Ribbons step on the court at the Victoria High School gymnasium tonight to battle in the first inter-city basketball fixture of the season, local fans will get their final glimpse at "Chuck" Chapman, brilliant guard, and Muzz Patrick, heavy scoring forward, in action this season. Chapman left Thursday afternoon to join the Royal City quintette, while Patrick will be heading East again to join his parents.

Despite the fact that Chapman is now a member of the Adanacs he will be playing for the Ribbons, thus marking his final appearance on the local floor this season. His departure from local ranks means a big New Westminster gain and a much bigger Victoria loss. Chapman played an important part in bringing the first Canadian championship here two years ago when the local hoopers blasted the hopes of Windsor—Walkerville Alumni, Eastern titleholders, at the Willows. Patrick was also a member of the team that year, but last season played for Montreal Nationale, finalists in the Dominion series.

VISITORS STRONG

"Toots" Phillips, Royal City mentor, announces a strong team, one which should keep up a fast pace all evening. At the tip-off position will be Al Smith, last year with the Vancouver Athletic Club, while on the wing berths will be that prolific scorer, Wally Mayers, one of Canada's best forwards, and Horace North, who played for the V.A.C. last season. On the defence will be Ted McEwan, veteran guard, and Ken Matheson, a former member of the McKenzie—Fraser club of a year ago. Sitting on the bench ready for reserve duty will be Bob McDonald, Gordon Douglas, Ken McDonald and Hugh McKnight.

With plenty of training sessions under their belts, the Ribbons will be out with their strongest possible line-up. They have played one game so far this season, defeating the Colonist quintette by a comfortable margin. As Chapman will be at the pivot position, while Albert "Red" Martin and diminutive Johnny Craig will work on the wings. This is a fast trio of quick-shooting forwards and should worry the visiting defence. Big Chuck Chapman will work on the rear division along with Doug Peden, while Alex McKeachie and Porky Andrews will do the relieving. Just whether Muzz Patrick will start on one of the forward positions is not definitely known.

Two well balanced clubs will meet

In the preliminary fixture, commencing at 8 o'clock. A large crowd is expected on hand to give Chuck Chapman and Muzz Patrick a big send-off, and also see just how the Ribbons look this year.

COWICHAN WILL MEET VICTORIA

Cowichan Country Golf Club will invade the city tomorrow to meet a select side from the Victoria Golf Club at the sporty Oak Bay links in an inter-club match. Singles will be played in the forenoon and four-somes in the afternoon. All matches will be played under handicap.

Starting times, with the Cowichan players first mentioned, follow:

9:30 a.m.—G. Prevost and Alan Prevost vs. J. Todd and W. P. Bowden.

9:35—N. E. Suddaby and Col. A. F. M. Slater vs. A. M. Watson and A. S. G. McGraw.

9:40—W. M. Prest and Kenneth Duncan vs. John Hart and Dr. W. T. Barrett.

9:45—W. B. Powell and Dr. V. N. Farlton vs. J. W. Ruggles and C. E. Wilson.

9:50—Tom Kingscote and Walter Harper vs. W. Merston and C. W. Pangman.

9:55—Norman Martin and R. C. Anderson vs. W. L. McIntosh and T. D. Mackay.

10:00—Jim Martin and Phil Jaynes vs. S. V. York and W. S. Campbell.

10:05—A. E. Craig and Fred Leeming vs. C. W. Gamble and H. W. R. Moore.

10:10—N. R. Craig and Oscar Droob vs. A. L. Scott and Colonel Lightbody.

10:15—Dr. H. N. Watson and Wallace Whidden vs. H. C. Morris and T. S. Griffith.

Cedar Hill Links Will Remain Open

Plans for the construction of a new clubhouse at the Cedar Hill golf course are now under consideration, while the appointment of a manager will be made shortly, Miss K. McRae announced yesterday. The course is open for play, and announcement of future policy may be expected at any time.

BORN WITHOUT HANDS—EARNS HIS LIVING REPAIRING WATCHES

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
The Footprints of the Last Stand—The famous "Skipsa Footprints" are located in a corner of a meadow off Skipsa-Beeford Road, Yorkshire, England, and are believed to be the last footprints of two Danish soldiers who, in 1689, agreed to stand in them and fight a mortal battle with swords. One was killed in the battle and the slayer died at the hand of the executioner. Ever since, the "Footprints" have borne witness to the tragedy. Grass will not grow in the "Footprints," and they are always about three inches deep. Over the grave of the two soldiers in St. Mary's Church in Beverley nearby there is a tablet recording their fate.

The Monument to a Lie—The Cross of Devezes, Wiltshire, England, stands in the market place of that town and on the spot where, on January 25, 1753, Ruth Pierce, of Potterne, in the county, falsely asserted that she had paid her share of the purchase-price of a sack of wheat bought by her in partnership with three other women. When the other women denied that she had paid the money, Ruth exclaimed, "I wish I may drop down dead if I have not." She rashly repeated this awful invocation, when to the horror of the multitude she instantly fell down and expired. They found the money concealed in her hand.

HEADLINE NATIONAL BASEBALL LEAGUE RESIGNS

Ill Health Forces John Heydler From President's Chair

Shocks Baseball World by Tendering Resignation Unexpectedly—Headed League Since 1918—Ends Term on December 11—Successor Will Be Chosen by Owners at Meeting

JOHN A. HEYDLER

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP).—Weary and sick, John Heydler, one of the bulwarks of baseball, unexpectedly resigned as president of the National League today, so that he may get far from the cares and worries of the executive side, and back into the sun of the bleachers, while there is still time. The sixty-five-year-old executive shocked the board of directors of the league he has ruled since 1918 with the sudden announcement that poor health would force him to step down December 11, close of baseball's fiscal year. His resignation was accepted with all the regret that could be put into words, and left the directors so stunned that no one could hazard more than a guess as to a successor to be chosen here by the league owners next Thursday.

The names of Branch Rickey, vice-president and business manager of the St. Louis Cardinals; Ford Frick, former newspaperman, recently installed as director of publicity for the league; and Harvey Triand, for years Heydler's secretary, were brought forward as possible successors, but from no official source.

From the archives of the directors, Heydler, Charles A. Stoneham, New York Giants; William E. Bensawer, Pittsburgh Pirates; and John O. Sells, Chicago Cubs—it seemed likely that an honorary title at least, such as "president emeritus" or "counselor," will be created for Heydler.

It also is likely the joint office of secretary-treasurer and president, which Heydler held, will again be separated.

A severe illness, in 1933, undermined Heydler's health, and though his mood today was not ordered by his doctors, it seemed to him the only thing to do under the circumstances.

"A year ago," he said, "I had to consider resigning because of my health. This past season, with its exciting finish and wild climax of the world series, has left me so that a couple of times a week I get all shaky and on the verge of a breakdown. I think I've earned the right now to sit back and enjoy baseball again from a teacher's seat."

He said he had considered asking for a year's leave of absence, but decided that was unfair. He said he always would be at baseball's call to the limit of his strength.

"As long as he and the National League live," said Judge Fuchs, "they will be connected in some way."

Heydler's story is that of modern baseball itself. Never a professional player, he went to Washington as a printer, in the Bureau of Engraving, in 1889, met Nicholas E. Young, president of the National League, and started an association with the game that covered forty-five years.

For his own amusement he kept statistics on the National League players, first in the history of baseball.

Once, late at night, when he carried the proof of a state document to the White House, he got talking baseball with President Grover Cleveland, and wound up making for him the recitation for which he is as famous as DeWolf Hopper—"Casey at the Bat."

Heydler umpired games occasionally for Young, and May 31, 1895, was called out of the bleachers to handle a game between Pittsburgh and Washington when the regular umpire became ill. Connie Mack was managing the Pirates.

Heydler became a sports writer.

Security Prices Gain Slightly at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP).—Stocks showed an inclination, today, to climb out of the rut the market stalled in a week ago, but they did not get far.

After a brisk buying spurt in the forenoon, trading returned to its recent halting pace. Turnover totaled 65,120 shares.

Brokers attributed the early demand for stocks in part to favorable items in the week's batch of news. Motor and auto accessory shares enjoyed a brief push. McCrory Stores preferred jumped 5 points to a new top.

Gains of a point or more were registered from J. I. Case, Allied Chemical, American Tobacco, Auburn Auto, Columbian Carbon, Corn Products, Deere, DuPont, General Motors, and United States Steel preferred. Union Pacific rallied 2 1/2.

The bond market continued to move in irregular channels today, although most price changes were insignificant. German Government 7's jumped 2 points to 41. Other foreign bonds were irregular and quiet.

Virginia Vane Says:

BOY FRIEND'S KISSES LACK FERVOR OF EMPLOYER'S—CONSCIENCE IN A QUANDARY

Dear Miss Vane: I am in a great quandary. The boy with whom I have been going for the past two years has just proposed to me, and as he meets every requirement of a gentleman—being kind and considerate, very good looking, a gentleman in every way, and in addition has a really good position—I am seriously considering accepting his proposal. I respect him and I am not at all sure that the feeling of affection I have for him is not honest-to-goodness love.

However, I find that I am greatly attracted to the man I work for. He is much older than I, and married. Somehow this man I work for thrills me much more than does my boy friend. I do not have the respect for this man that I have for my other friend, but there is something that seems much more stimulating and exciting about this married man. I have allowed him to make love to me and, to be completely frank, find that his kisses mean much more to me than do my young friend's.

Would I be very unfair to accept the first man's proposal when I have such a feeling for the second?—Conscience.

You certainly would be unfair to the first man if you thought about marrying him while you still were infatuated with someone else. There are no two ways about it. As long as you are so deeply interested in your employer, you cannot possibly give this young man any encouragement. However, a little straight reasoning will soon convince you how unimportant your feelings are for this "Wandering Husband." I am sure that you get away from the influence of the Don Juan you work for you will realize this. It is high time you realized that the qualities in a partnership that make for real lasting happiness are loyalty, understanding, respect, kindness, congeniality and similar qualities. Most of these you can see have little to do with physical attraction only.

Doesn't it occur to you that the reason there is such a great difference of technique between these two is because the married one has had much more practice at that sort of thing. Perhaps, after you and your boy friend have been married for a few years, he will be able to kiss you equally as effectively as this married man.

Needless to say you are playing around with fire. Suppose your employer becomes so attached to you that he finds it necessary to leave his wife. Certainly you are not in love with him, and the conscience you would have all your life if you wrecked his wife's home would be too high a price to pay for an occasional thrill of the moment.

There are nice normal people in the world you know, even though the movies seem to deny it, and you had better make up your mind right now that you are going to be one of them. Put the brakes on your feeling for your employer. You can easily, if you once make up your mind. You have got to lick this weakness in your character before you launch into matrimony. Once you have succeeded in putting this infatuation where it belongs, your changed sense of values will soon persuade you of your real love for the boy who wants to marry you.

OWES SOME LOYALTY TO HUSBAND

Dear Miss Vane: Six months ago I met my present husband. During courtship he was extremely attentive and did everything to hurry me into my present marriage. He spent money as if it were water, and claimed that his family were very wealthy, owning several big hotels in the South. He drove a big car, and I know now that the attractive things we were able to do had a great deal to do with my rushing into matrimony. I do not feel that I married solely for money, but do believe that the luxuries always connected with his company made it easy to fall in love with my husband.

I now find that the picture he painted was completely false. He has turned out that neither he nor his family have any money, the "big hotels" in the South I find to be one very poorly kept tourist house. The big car is their only claim to wealth, and it is yet to be paid for.

My husband is still very attentive, but expects me to help out with the work connected with his father's farm on which we live. He you, Miss Vane, think I am justified in leaving him, even though he may be hurt by my so doing.—Hasty.

Well, you certainly had the courage of your convictions, didn't you? I doubt that there are many girls that would have had the fearlessness that prompted you to rush into a marriage with a man you just barely knew personally, and about whose life you knew next to nothing. You, of course, are almost as much to blame in the matter as is your husband. You have been equally false, though not quite so deliberately as has been this man who won you with fables of comfort and a life of ease.

Unconsciously you have led him, by letting him think that your affections was the result of love rather than a desire for the conveniences and luxuries a marriage to him would assure. If you had been completely honest with yourself as well as with him, you would have waited until your sense of values cleared sufficiently to enable you to determine just how strong your attraction to him was. You were blinded so that you could not make an honest estimate of the situation.

You must, then, not be too hard on your husband. He is not the only one who has behaved badly in this business. He may really have realized that you were looking for a soft berth, but were really interested in him for himself, and that his unfortunate exaggeration of his family's wealth could not have mattered one way or the other. I cannot believe that any man can be so stupid as to deliberately trick a girl into marrying in the way you have described. It is probable that your husband was conceited enough to believe that you would not want more than his personality to make your married life completely happy.

Why not have a frank talk with him, tell him that he won you with the promises of ease and security as much as he won you by his personality, and that though the first shock has been terrific, if he can see any way for the two of you to escape the drab existence your marriage promises, you will try to go along with him. This talk is bound to bring out the true motives of his exaggeration of his family's wealth. If he has deliberately tricked you, his guilt is bound to be evident, but a genuine regret, and a desire on his part to make it up to you will prove that his exaggerating was not malicious, but merely weakness.

You have gone so far it would be folly not to see the thing through if there can be any hope at all of the future. If he has been deliberate in his deception, however, you must get clear of him just as fast as you can, no matter who may be hurt by your actions.

SAYS GAME BIRDS DAMAGE HIS CROPS

Whether Saanich farmers, living in restricted shooting areas, will be given special permission to destroy game which is damaging crops, will be decided by Chief of Police Allan Rankin.

The Saanich council, Thursday night, gave power to the police chief to deal with a complaint from Joseph McKay, of the seventy-acre McKay ranch, at Tillicum and Burnside Roads.

Mr. McKay informed the council that pheasants were causing him heavy financial losses, due to the damage done to his crops by the birds.

MORE POWER GOING FROM BONNINGTON

Sixty Thousand Volts Available Between Kootenay Plant and Ymir

SHEEP CREEK NEED WILL BE SUPPLIED

NELSON, Nov. 2 (CP). — Electric power of 60,000 volts pulsed over the West Kootenay Power & Light Company's Salmon Valley transmission line this afternoon between the Bonnington plants and Ymir.

This section was originally in use at 20,000 volts, when extended from the old Silver King line to Ymir and Wild Horse Creek for the use of the Yankee Girl Consolidated operation of the Stobie-Porlong interests. A voltage of 60,000 is necessary now, to carry through to Sheep Creek, and the company has just finished the new installation at the Athabasca, adjacent to Nelson, necessitated by the change.

FOR YMIER MINES
The new transformer house at Ymir has two transformers, and will presently furnish power to the Yankee Girl mill and mine, the Dundee Mine, which will take off from the Yankee Girl, and the Ymir-Good-enough, which will connect with the Wild Horse line. Other mines in the Ymir area, such as the Two Star and Centre Star, which are both within two miles of the Bear Creek line, are within striking distance if ultimately they should have large-scale operations.

In the Sheep Creek camp, both the Reno mill and mine and the Kootenay Belle mill and mine are waiting turning on of the power, the transmission line to the Sheep Creek transformer house, which is situated near the Kootenay Belle mill, being now practically complete. This transformer house also has two transformers.

Other properties that will take power from this line are the Queen, a few furlongs away on Wolf Creek, and the Gold Belt. The Reno and the Kootenay Belle have strung their wires to the transformer house, and are ready now for the hook-up.

The branch transmission line to the Second Relief Mine, of the Erie camp, by way of Porto Rico, is now descending the last slope toward the mine. It may be transmitting current in a month's time. This transformer house has a single transformer. Snow hampered this line constructively, both Ymir and Salmo will be electrically lighted as a consequence of this development.

Properties between Ymir and Nelson, if their developments justify, can be served in the future.

CONFERENCE IS POSTPONED

Premier Bennett Advises B.C. Government Early Meeting Not Possible

British Columbia's Government was advised from Ottawa, yesterday, that the proposed Federal-Provincial conference had been postponed and could not take place in any event until the end of this year. In a telegram to Premier Pattullo, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett stated:

"The inability of nine (provinces) to agree upon a date for the holding of a conference makes it clear that the meeting cannot take place before the end of the year. While the idea is not abandoned, it is apparently difficult to hold the conference before many of the legislatures will be in session."

Premier Pattullo said British Columbia had hoped that a conference would be called sometime during this month, to discuss issues set out on a tentative agenda sent out from Ottawa.

REPORT LARGE HERRING CATCH

Nearly $225,000 Worth of Fish Taken on East Coast of Island

Herring production on the East Coast of Vancouver Island up to October 27, amounted to 5,601 tons, worth approximately $225,000, George J. Alexander, deputy fisheries commissioner for the Province, said yesterday.

Some 1,200 tons have already been shipped in the salt fish trade, at prices in the neighborhood of $40 per ton. The catch to date is exclusive of returns from the West Coast of the Island, where fishing starts later.

Through recent Federal creation of the British Columbia Salt Fish Board, all herring marketed in the trade is controlled by that body, under the chairmanship of Hugh Dalton. The board held its first meeting, yesterday, in Vancouver.

Action Is Deferred On Relief Question

After ninety minutes of camera deliberation, Saanich Council, Thursday night, tabled its action on future relief policies. Earlier at last night's session the council protested Premier Pattullo's action in refusing to see the U.B.C.M. executive,
